Republicans Act to Adjourn State Legislature to Dec. 10

Assembly Vote Due Today; GOP Accuses Governor of Seeking Political Gains

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Suspecting that Democratic Gov. Nelson intends to use a prolonged legislative session to his own political advantage, the legislative Republican leadership last night moved abruptly to shut off the legislative deliberations without more ado.

The Republican controlled assembly planned to vote today on a resolution to adjourn the legislative until next Dec. 10, which would prevent Nelson from making further political demands upon it now, while keeping the initiative from a possible emergency session later in the hands of the Republican quarterbacks.

The assembly resolution, introduced with indignant protests from the assembly Democratic minority, had been cleared with the GOP majority of the state senate, where leaders of the caucus also returned to the capitol Monday with demands for early adjournment.

Political Issue

The Republicans are plainly worried that the governor, who will run for office again later in the year, intends to use the legislative forum for personal campaigning and that he might exploit his right to call a special legislative session on for the same ends.

(Whether the Republican legislative belief that recessing the legislature until next winter would preclude the governor from exercising his constitutional rights to summon a special session is sound was not immedately assured. Some capitol observers doubted that one branch of the government by its own independent action can interfere with the constitutional prerogatives of another, such as the executive department.)

Republicans were boiling Monday when they returned for what they had planned as a brief clean-up session and found that Nelson had released to the press a peremptory demand for another attempt to revise bank taxation, and that he had planned to deliver yet another special message in person to the joint session of the two houses today. Nelson has de-

Oshkosh Airport Projects Receive Federal Go-Ahead

Runway Extension, Moving Road Will Permit Instrument System

OSHKOSH — Federal approval was granted today for two Winnebago County airport projects Sen. William Proxmire announced.

The district FAA engineer at Minneapolis this afternoon will authorize the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission to advertise for bids, the senator's office said.

The state commission has set 2 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 25 for the opening of bids at Winnebago County courthouse. When plans for the project were prepared three years ago the cost was estimated at $288,000.

The first project will be a 2,400-foot extension on the west end of the east-west runway. The runway is 3,700 feet long, but the eastern 1,000 feet will be deactivated when the extension is completed.

ILS System

This project will make the remaining 5,100 feet an instrument landing system runway. The eastern 1,000 feet will be used for over-run use by airplanes.

A part of this project also will be the relocation of County Trunk XX. This road will follow along the northern boundary of the Sacred Heart Cemetery property and then cut across to State 44.

Winnebago County board several years ago purchased lands west of County Trunk XX to permit the runway extension.

The second project authorized to be constructed with the runway, is a 4,500-foot taxi way and airplane warming up area. This will be parallel to the east-west runway and about 300 feet north of it.

The new flight control tower will be north of the taxiway. Both the taxiway and runway will be of blacktop material and the runway will be 100 feet in width.

Other phases of these projects are expansion of the concrete ramp near the terminal building and lighting of the east-west runway.

The state aeronautics commission handles these projects as the agent for Winnebago County. Auler Corp. of Oshkosh is the consulting engineer.

Speaker-to-be Sees Approval Of Major Bills

McCormack Doubtful About Passage of Health Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic leadership of Congress predicted today that the bulk of President Kennedy's heavy legislative program will be passed in the new session which starts Wednesday.

The House majority leader and speaker-to-be, Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told reporters after a White House breakfast that the President scored a "tremendous record last year."

"I have every confidence that Congress will enact into law the greater part of the President's program," he said.

Major Legislation

McCormack was speaking of the domestic side of the administration's want list.

That program includes tax revision, medical care for the aged under Social Security, aid to education and other controversial proposals.

McCormack left in deep doubt, however, the outlook for the proposal for health care under the Social Security system.

A White House briefing of Democratic and Republican leaders of both houses on world conditions was supplemented by a more detailed rundown at a luncheon given by Secretary of State Dean Rusk for a bipartisan senatorial group.

World Situation Factor

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who attended both sessions, said in an interview it seems obvious to him that Kennedy's batting average in the new session which opens

Gizenga Out As Party Head

Congo Moderates Want Him Dropped From Government

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Antoine Gizenga's political party today disclaimed his leadership as moderate forces converged for a showdown to oust Gizenga from an active role in the Congolese government.

Felicien Kimway, vice president of Gizenga's African Solidarity party, announced that Gizenga is no longer president of the party.

Kimway's announcement followed a resolution by Parliament Monday demanding that Gizenga —a deputy premier backed by the Communist bloc — return from self-imposed exile in Stanleyville to answer parliamentary accusations of secessionism.

Ouster Is Possibility

The vote indicated clearly that disenchantment is growing among those leftists who once supported Gizenga as the legal head of the Congolese government after Patrice Lumumba's death.

If Gizenga fails to return, observers felt action might be started to oust him from the post of deputy premier he accepted last August in the central government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Gizenga has secluded himself in Stanleyville for months. Reports from that northeast Congo city indicate he has lost much of his local and even foreign support.

May, Former Atomic Spy for Russians, to Be Ghana Professor

May

Announcing this today, a Ghana high commission spokesman said the 50-year - old British scientist is expected to take up the appointment shortly.

Dr. May worked on an atomic energy project in Canada during World War II. He was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment in 1946 for disclosing atomic secrets to the Russians. He was released in 1952 after serving six years and eight months of the term.

Ghana university is to be equipped by the Soviet Union with a nuclear reactor for research. There was no official indication that May is being employed to work with it, and he said from his Cambridge home it would not be correct to describe his appointment as a chair of nuclear physics.

May said he would be engaged in general work on physics and would do some teaching.

Fox Cities Shiver As Mercury Drops

Temperature Down to Minus 9; Even Colder Weather Expected

Arctic air blasted into the Fox Cities area today bumping the mercury to an engine-stopping 10 below. Not only that, but weatherman Ralph Dorn says it's going to get even colder—a low of minus 18 predicted for tonight.

Winds up to 25 miles an hour were heaping highways with drifts. Main state and U.S. highways were reported in good driving condition.

Rural county and town roads were reported rapidly filling up with snow. North-south roads were in especially bad shape. Many town roads were completely blocked.

Schools Close

Public schools at Seymour were closed today. Buses had been sent out, but were called back in. St. John Catholic school was open, but reported many students absent.

Most Calumet County schools didn't open or closed down in the morning. Chilton public schools sent all rural students home and closed schools. Chilton parochial schools also closed this morning.

Public schools at Hilbert, Stockbridge, Reedsville and Forest Junction closed. New Holstein did not send out buses, but kept kept schools open.

Two Kimberly High School girls and a bus driver were stranded near Darboy for an hour and a half this morning when a school bus foundered on a snow-choked town road in Calumet County.

Wary Eye

Other schools were keeping a wary eye on the weather with the possibility of closing early if the drifting continued.

At Waupaca, radio station WDUX was off the air until 11 a.m. this morning.

Reds to Release Belgian Airliner

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government agreed today to release a Belgian airliner which landed Monday in Armenia while on a flight from Tehran to Brussels, Belgium, with 27 persons aboard.

First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasilyv Kuznetsov told Belgian Ambassador Hyppolite Cools that all passengers and crewmen were safe and staying at a hotel in Grozny, north of Yerevan, where the plane was reported forced down.

Kuznetsov delivered a routine formal protest about the violation of Soviet air space by the Caravelle jetliner.

U.S. Helping S. Viet Nam Increase Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Viet Nam is acting to increase its regular army from 170,000 to 200,000 with the help of U.S. military aid.

U.S. officials said that the guerrilla war appears to be growing in intensity there, killing and wounding 400 non-Communists a week.

State Department officials in disclosing the army buildup today said the additional costs would be borne by both South Viet Nam and the United States through a new financial reform program.

Guerillas Active

U.S. officials estimate that Communist North Viet Nam has 300,000 to 350,000 men under arms.

In the past year guerrilla activity by the Communist Viet Cong rebels more than doubled, according to W. Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state.

The number of Viet Cong operating in South Viet Nam is estimated at 18,000 or more. U.S. officials said there has been a sharp increase in violent incidents in recent months.

U.S. Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting Jr., is conducting an overall review of American policy in South Viet Nam with foreign aid representatives and officials of the State and Defense departments.

A State Department spokesman said that the United States "is not sending combat troops to South Viet Nam except for training purposes—if you want to regard them as combat troops in that light."

New Spending Needs New Tax, Nelson States

Promises to Veto Expenditures Unless Revenue Is Provided

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson told the Wisconsin Legislature today that he would veto additional spending measures this session unless they are accompanied by revenue bills that would finance them.

The Democratic chief executive, in what he described as "almost certainly my last message this session," told assemblymen and senators that amendments to his compromise tax bill had cut estimated surpluses from $30 million to $3.5 million for the biennium ending June 30, 1963.

Small Balance

"The amendments have left a narrow and risky balance," Nelson said, adding:

"In my judgment you should act to restore the revenue cuts made in the compromise tax bill since all of these revenues will be needed in the next biennium. If you do not do it now, it will have to be done the next session. It will not be easier then than now."

Nelson said some 50 spending bills still before the Legislature would cost an added $39 million.

"I have reviewed carefully each one of these measures," Nelson said. "Frankly, several of them are extremely worthwhile. I endorse their objective.

"Nevertheless there are no available extra funds to finance any of these measures, however meritorious they may be."

The governor said he considered it his responsibility to advise the Republican controlled Legislature that he would veto "any spending

Plane Overdue On Flight to Azores Islands

NEW YORK (AP) — An Air Force KB50 tanker aircraft with nine men aboard was reported overdue early today on a flight from Langley Air Force Base, Va., to the Azores Islands off Portugal.

The Coast Guard here said the plane's last reported position was about 240 miles due east of Norfolk, Va.

The spokesman said a "track line" search was being conducted —meaning, he said, a search of an area 40 miles south and 90 miles north of the area in which the plane last was reported.

At Langley, an Air Force spokesman said a radio check was being made with all airports and fields where the plane may have landed if trouble developed on the flight.

Boys' Radio Station Put Out of Business by FCC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The slightly high-pitched voice of WALE, "your neighborly station," has signed off without so much as one bong.

It was turned off, gently but firmly, by a grim-faced investigator of the Federal Communications Commission who read the riot act to its two operators—Bruce Wahl, 13, and David Lester, 14.

His station was Wahl's bedroom. Its commentators, engineers, announcers and disc jockeys were Wahl and Lester. Its range was neighborly—covering nine other houses.

The boys pieced the equipment together from old parts and went on the air a month ago from Wahl's home in nearby Falls Church, Va.

Every afternoon after school, WALE offered the neighbors a program of weather information, news culled from newspapers and music—"everything from rock 'n' roll to the semi-classics."

Any listeners? Wahl and Lester had no rating but Wahl said he knew that at least one family listened—"but they moved away after the first broadcast. Of course, they had been planning to move for six months."

It was fun. Until the other day.

WALE had been on the air for about 45 minutes when Bruce spotted a man in an automobile aiming a device with an aerial at the bedroom window.

Then the man came to the door.

After checking the equipment—which operated on about a tenth of a watt—he sat down last Thursday with the boys and Bruce's mother and read a passage from a book. It was a copy of the Communications Act and it told how people operating unlicensed stations could be fined $10,000 or sent to jail for two years. Maybe both.

So now WALE is off the air. The FCC is willing to forget the whole thing but officials explained there would be chaos on the airwaves if anybody could operate a station, even a neighborly one.

Forest Crop Law Issue at Trial

EAGLE RIVER (AP) — A dispute between the State Conservation Department and Vilas County over Wisconsin's forest crop law reaches the courts later this month when Vilas County forester Tony Mutter is scheduled for trial.

Mutter is charged with removing state tags impounding timber cut by the county from land the state contends is included in the forest crop program. He was ordered to trial Jan. 22.

The county voted last year to withdraw from the program, but the state says a county may not drop out without state permission.

However, the county cut timbr on the land which had been under the program. The state forest ranger then placed on the timber tags which said the cutting had been impounded and could not be sold.

Mutter is charged with cutting off the tags. He was arraigned last Thursday in County Court after the failure of attempts to take the case into Circuit Court in Wausau.

Indonesia Hints at Mediation by Thant

Sukarno Will Decide Question Of War or Peace Over New Guinea Within 10 Days

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — High government sources indicated today Indonesia would not be adverse to U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant taking a hand in efforts to solve the dispute over Dutch New Guinea.

Foreign Minister Subandrio said President Sukarno, who blames the Dutch for an assassination attempt against him last weekend, will decide the question of war or peace with the Netherlands "within a week or 10 days."

Government sources indicated that Sukarno's delay of the decision was to give an opportunity for interested parties to bring Indonesia and the Netherlands together.

U. S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones conferred with Sukarno today in an apparent effort to sober the belligerent tone sounded by the Indonesian president in speeches made during a four-day barnstorming tour of South Celebes.

Jones accompanied Sukarno on the tour, during which a hand grenade was tossed at the president's motorcade. The explosion, the fourth attempt on Sukarno's life in four years, did not harm the president, but was reported to have killed 4 persons and wounded 27.

Jones declined comment on his meeting with Sukarno at Merkeda Palace but said, "I'll be seeing the president whenever the situation warrants."

Subandrio said "the vague attitude of the Dutch" gave no concrete indication that diplomacy could solve the dispute over New Guinea, but that another week or 10 days might answer the question with certainty.

No Objections

Government sources said if the diplomatic situation justifies it, Indonesia would not object to making an effort to bring the two parties together and sitting in on the talks.

Theretofore, the Dutch have been angling for a broad international approach to the dispute, with the U.N. or individual nations taking a hand. Indonesia, however, has been stressing that the problem should be tackled in bilateral talks.

Government sources said if it were not possible for Thant to sit in, Indonesia might favor his desigating Thailand and the Philippines to participate. These two countries are favored because they are regarded by the Indonesians as disinterested parties.

The Hague reported last week that an offer by the Philippines to mediate had been received and was being considered. This was officially denied in Manila.

Subandrio told newsmen after a conference of Indonesia's top military policy-making body—the National Defense Council—that Sukarno "has come to the conclusion that at present there are still no signs that diplomatic moves can be of help in solving the West Irian (West New Guinea) problem."

An Army spokesman announced during the defense council conference that Sukarno has appointed one of his top military officers, Brig. Gen. Suharto, to head the West New Guinea "Liberation Command." Suharto has been commander of the Army Corps General Reserve.

The Indonesian president returned to his capital from the South Celebes tour late Monday. Col. Yusuf, the military commander there, assured Sukarno before he left Makassar that he would "leave no stone unturned" in apprehending those responsible for the assassination attempt. Several suspects have been arrested, he said.

Although the Celebes, Sumatra and other outer islands were the scene of a determined revolt against Sukarno's rule in 1958, the president told a reception in Makassar that preliminary investigation showed "Dutch henchmen" were behind the latest assassination attempt.

"This is the fourth attempt on my life," he said. "I pray to God for His grace."

Nearby when the grenade went off as Sukarno's motorcade passed was Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov, a member of Sukarno's party. He was not hurt and his car was undamaged. Titov looked relaxed and smiling when he attended a student rally addressed by Sukarno shortly after the assassination attempt Sunday night.

AFL-CIO Pact Now Complete, Meany Claims

Chicago Unions Last in Country To Reach Accord

Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO — AFL-CIO President George Meany declared the merger of the AFL and CIO completed Monday night as he presided at ceremonies joining central bodies of the two in Chicago.

Formation of the 12,487,000 combined group was begun on an international union basis Dec. 5, 1955.

The Chicago - wide central bodies were the last such in some 800 American cities to unite.

After referring to a speech he heard last week on "moral decay," Meany said forceably:

No Moral Decay

"There is no moral decay in the trade union movement.

"We kicked out 10 per cent of our membership, we cut out 10 per cent of our income—1,500,000 people who are just as good as any trade unionist sitting in this hall."

He referred principally to the AFL-CIO's expulsion of the Teamsters; Laundry, Dry Cleaning and Dye House Workers, and Bakery and Confectionery Workers in December, 1957, on charges of being dominated by corrupt elements.

"We don't think it's good for labor unions to be controlled by anybody but their members. Certainly not by thieves and racketeers," Meany went on.

He emphasized

Leading the Way

"I think that labor has got to lead the way in a course that proves that decency and ethics mean something to the American people.

"If all we're interested in is profits and bargaining and greater comforts, you can get that from the Communists."

In a news conference before his speech, Meany said that the Teamsters have not applied to the AFL-CIO for reaffiliation.

As to claims of James R. Hoffa, Teamster president, that the Teamsters would be back in the federation within two years, Meany asserted:

"I think he (Hoffa) is a little over-optimistic about getting back into the AFL-CIO."

Freeman's Plan Includes Milk Production Quota

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman will recommend to Congress a dairy production quota program in an effort to cut surpluses, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., reported today.

But Laird said he had some reservations about the program.

Laird said the program was outlined by Freeman on Dec. 19 to his national dairy and milk production advisory committee. The group will meet again with Freeman Jan. 31.

Program Outlined

"The program outlined by Secretary Freeman," Laird said, "would affect 1.7 million dairy farms in the United States.

"There are indications, however, that in the final analysis producers having three or less cows would not have to take quotas and this would eliminate 1.3 million dairy farms. That would leave 400,000 such farms."

Quotas to be assigned to participating dairy farmers would be on a pound basis for milk rather than on the number of cows they own, Laird said. He said Freeman estimated a 6 per cent reduction in milk production would be required to bring production in line with consumption. Dairy farmers would receive higher price supports to offset production declines.

Like various other farm programs, dairy farmers would have to approve the program in a referendum by a two-thirds majority vote.

Favorable Vote

"First," Laird said, "I do not believe that it could receive a two-thirds favorable vote to establish individual production quotas on dairy farms in the U.S.

"This is particularly true if you exempt producers with three cows or less. If these are exempted, the same thing would happen to dairy farmers that happened to wheat farmers under the 15-acre wheat exemption.

"Many farmers in the country, who are not even producing milk today, would go ahead and take advantage of the situation and have three or less cows."

Laird also said dairy surplus areas such as Wisconsin would be required to assume the greatest reduction in production.

Laird said he doubts that the program would work unless Congress removes state and local barriers to the free flow of milk across the country.

Accused Killer Seeks Hearing For Mental Exam

BARABOO (AP)—A hearing has been scheduled on the request of an accused slayer for a pre-trial mental examination, his attorney said Monday.

Vaughan Conway of Baraboo, attorney for William Welter, 23, said the hearing would be held Friday as a result of a meeting between Circuit Judge Bruce Beilfuss and Sauk County Dist. Atty. James Seering.

Seering had declared prior to Conway's announcement that he was "vehemently opposed" to an examination for Welter.

Welter and two other Chicago area men, Richard Nickl and Lawrence Nutley, are scheduled for trial Feb. 12 at Madison. All three have pleaded innocent to charges of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of 26-year-old Sauk County patrolman James Jantz. Jantz was killed and Lake Delton Police Chief Robert Kohl wounded, in a gunfight Aug. 21 at Lake Delton.

"Intuition told me to keep trying," Wagner explained. "I found the door ajar and called."

"All she was worrying about," said Wagner, "was her parakeet. She hadn't been able to look after it."

Auto Workers List Demands

Negotiations With Allis-Chalmers Resumed by Union

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union began listing its demands Monday as negotiations were resumed with Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co., producer of farm machinery and heavy electrical equipment in eight plants across the nation.

Herschel Davis, a UAW international representative, announced a list of 10 demands that will be negotiated on a company-wide basis. He said that goals of the locals at the firm's eight plants would be outlined on Wednesday.

The old contract expired in November but employes remained at work under an indefinite extension of the agreement.

Final Demand

Davis said the final demand to be settled in company-wide bargaining would be presented today. That deals with supplemental unemployment compensation.

Only one issue on Davis' list concerned wages, to be included in the demands to be presented by the eight locals. On Davis' list was a request that all but five cents of an 18-cent cost of living bonus be frozen to wages.

Other demands included a change in the no-strike clause to permit strikes over production standards or new or changed classifications; disability pensions to start after 10 years instead of 15; increases in pension plan benefits ranging from $2.50 to $5.60 monthly, $8,000 group life insurance for all employes, instead of coverage hinged to earnings, and changes in the vacation schedule.

A-C has about 5,000 employes at its home plant here and an equal number at its seven other installations.

Soviets Experimenting With Crewless Tanker

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union is now experimenting with operation on the Caspian Sea, Maritime Administrator Donald W. Alexander said Monday night.

Alexander, speaking before the Marine Society of New York, said the Soviet tanker Inzhener A. Pustoshkin, a shallow-draft vessel, is now being converted for fully automated operation.

"It will make experimental voyages on the open sea without any crew, being shore-controlled over great distances," he added.

Alexander said the Soviet Union also is building the first two of a series of 45,000-ton automated tankers, on which a single crewman can operate turbines and boilers and machinery can be controlled from the bridge.

Congress Returns

Washington Going 'Slightly Wacky'

BY JAMES McCARTNEY
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — As it does every year about this time, this town is beginning to go slightly wacky with the return of congress.

It's as though Santa Claus was coming to town—and in a way, for many, he probably is.

The taxi business is picking up, after a lazy three months.

Glad-handers are everywhere—in hotel lobbies, in the House and Senate office buildings, on the streets.

"Hi, Charlie, you old dog!" can be heard at least three times a day on any sidewalk by any near-perceptive visitor, as legislators greet one another after the mid-session recess.

The Senate has a new private dining room in the U.S. capitol—twice as big, and twice as plush as the old one.

Red and white flowers were set on every table Monday, waiting for senators to stop in for lunch.

Hallways have been repainted, new chandeliers hung.

Part of the new east front extension to the Capitol building is also open for the first time—a multi-million dollar project that had the blessing of the late House Speaker, Sam Rayburn.

The project, which cost upwards of $11 million, has been called by some skeptics the most expensive office space ever built.

Mostly it provides office "hideaways" in the Capitol building for ranking senators and congressmen.

But it also features private hallways from the House to the Senate wings of the Capitol, so that legislators can walk from end end of the Capitol to the other without being molested by the voting public.

With the opening of the "hideaway" offices, more than half of the 100 members of the Senate will have extra offices, aside from their formal offices in the two Senate office buildings.

Loudest Yelp

The loudest yelp about this system has come from Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.), who has called the entire east front extension a "sorry example of extravagance."

Proxmire, it might be noted, did not get one of the "hideaways."

But other things are also popping around the Capitol.

A new $4,000 revolving door is operating smoothly on the west side of the building. It was put in because tourists complained that the old door was knocking their heels.

At the same time, work is progressing on a third House office building, being built at a cost of something like $70 million—although no one knows for sure, it seems.

Young Girls Admit Starting Church Fire

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two girls, 5 and 6-year-olds, angry because they were refused a ride on a red snowplow, set fire to St. Stanislaus Roman Catholic Church Monday, fire and police officials said.

Damage appeared certain to exceed $10,000.

The girls re-enacted for their parents, church and fire officials Monday night how they set the blaze.

They said they lit a long taper from a burning vigil light and used the taper to kindle hay in the Nativity crib at a side altar.

Flames shot 70 feet in the air and spread the blaze to the ceiling, said Battalion Fire Chief Robert Heindl. The fire fed on several Christmas trees clustered about the crib and caused extensive damage to the altar, its statues and the ceiling.

Donald Wargin, 24, a janitor, was overcome by smoke as he led masked firemen to a catwalk high above the ceiling. He was treated at a hospital and released.

The girls said they had been playing on the school grounds and became angry when the snowplow operator refused to give them a ride. The 6-year-old said she would take most of the blame.

Gibson Resting After Abdominal Operation

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Former cowboy star Hoot Gibson underwent abdominal surgery Monday for a mild obstruction and is reported resting in good condition.

Gibson, 69, entered the San Fernando Valley Motion Picture Country Hospital at Woodland Hills Jan. 3 for tests.

Punta del Este Talks May be Nightmarish For 7 Latin Countries

Several Leaders Have Dodged Issue of Communist Takeover in Castro's Cuba

BY GERRY ROBICHAUD
Chicago Daily News Service

MEXICO CITY — The forthcoming conference of foreign ministers in Punta del Este, Uruguay, is likely to be something of a nightmare for seven Latin American countries.

They will be put on a spot as they never have before on the one issue they successfully and sometimes shamefacedly dodged for a long time.

The issue is the threat to Western Hemisphere political independence and peace posed by the Communist takeover in Fidel Castro's Cuba, and what to do about it.

"Hot Spot"

Those on the hot spot will be Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Ecuador, Mexico and the host country of Uruguay.

They are the only Latin American nations which have not broken diplomatic relations with Castro and which have constantly stood opposed to what they call "intervention" in Cuban affairs.

Three of them, Brazil, Mexico and Argentina, are the biggest and most powerful nations in the Latin American bloc, and together they have considerably more than half the region's 200,000,000 population.

There are few responsible political leaders in any of the seven countries who will not admit privately that the sooner Castro is deposed and Cuba delivered from Communism, the better off the Western Hemisphere will be.

Bitterly Resentful

Many of these leaders are bitterly resentful that Uncle Sam bobbled so badly during the Bay of Pigs invasion last April. At the time they were fervently though secretly hopeful that the United States would commit enough of its strength to get rid of Castro.

The fact that they speak one way privately and another way publicly can be attributed to several factors.

In each of the seven nations that have indicated they are unwilling to vote political or economic sanctions against Castroite Cuba, a real fear persists that if they were to do so it would lead to greater unrest and agitation among extreme leftist elements at home.

Yet in only one of the 12 Latin American countries which have broken with Castro has the move caused any widespread or serious protest. It happened only in Venezuela, and even there the repercussions were much milder than might have been expected.

Nationalism a Factor

Nationalism also figures considerably in the reluctance of some of the seven fence-straddling countries to come to grips with the Cuban problem. They don't want to leave themselves open to charges that they are stooges for Uncle Sam.

Even such an ultraconservative stalwart as President Jorge Alessandri of Chile has made it clear that he has no stomach for a showdown with Castro because of the divisive effects it might have among the hard-pressed Chilean people.

But when the formal debate gets underway at Punta del Este, there isn't going to be any open talk of the fears that motivate the dissenters. They will argue instead about the sanctity of the policy of "nonintervention" in the affairs of one American nation by another or a group of others.

O'Brien, Who Resigned U.N. Position, to Wed Irish Official's Girl

NEW YORK (AP) — Conor Cruise O'Brien, who resigned from the Irish foreign service after being recalled from his United Nations job in Katanga, marries the daughter of a top Irish official today. The time and place were not disclosed.

O'Brien and Maire MacEntee, daughter of Sean MacEntee, deputy prime minister of Ireland, took out a marriage license Monday. Her age was listed as 39 and her address as Cedarhurst, N.Y., on Long Island.

O'Brien, after his resignation, said he was divorcing his wife of 22 years to marry Miss MacEntee. The marriage application said O'Brien's Mexican divorce became final Jan. 3.

O'Brien, who had three children by the previous marriage, gave his age as 44. He listed his occupation as writer.

Lawrence Says

Catholics Hit JFK's Stand on Parochial Aid

Religious Magazine Claims Protestant Leaders Gave More

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — When a national Catholic publication comes out with an editorial which makes it possible to draw an inference that maybe Catholics generally would have fared better on certain public questions if a Protestant had been elected President of the United States last year, this is political news of prime significance.

Lawrence

"America," a weekly review edited by a group of Jesuit fathers, says in its latest issue that, "for understandable political reasons, Mr. Kennedy has not been inclined to parade or in any way make much of his Irish or his Catholic background." It then makes the following comment:

"Unlike the late President Roosevelt, Mr. Kennedy has not sought out the advice, assistance, companionship and friendship of highly placed Catholic dignitaries. Catholic prelates and Catholic clergymen pay few if any calls these days at the White House. . .

No Photographers

"It is significant, for instance, that there were no photographers present for the relatively little-publicized visit to the White House of the (Vatican) Secretary of State early in December. Every published photograph of that brief meeting would have cost Mr. Kennedy 10,000 votes in the Bible Belt in 1964, and Mr. Kennedy, who is an experienced politician, can scarcely be asked to overlook such hard facts of public life in America. . . .

"Photographs of the President with Protestant spokesmen like Evangelist Billy Graham, on the other hand, are pure 14-carat gold, to be laid away at five-percent interest till the day of reckoning in 1964."

The same editorial says that "these presidential ventures onto the high wire of tight rope walking in the field of religious public relations cause no appreciable adverse reactions among his co-religionists," and that "in view of his peculiar position, Mr. Kennedy is not expected to make excessively friendly overtures to any one connected with his church."

First 12 Months

In its review of Mr. Kennedy's first twelve months in office, however, the magazine finds "one major incident to criticize." This arose in the President's stand in barring federal aid to parochial schools on constitutional grounds. The editorial reaffirms its judgment that Mr. Kennedy was "clearly out of line" in "attempting to settle, by presidential dictum, a thorny and complicated constitutional issue like that of aid to private schools." The editorial finds there is a "distinction that is very much to the fore in Catholic minds" as they ponder the dilemmas of the first Catholic president." It then adds:

"The distinction lies between clear understanding, on the one hand, of the political circumstances and contingencies which might make it personally expedient for a Catholic president not to be in the reviewing stand at a St. Patrick's Day parade—and, on the other hand, failure to understand and refusal to countenance a positive act of discrimination."

All this is but another way of saying that the President's stand on aid to parochial schools is being widely discussed among Catholics. It is being questioned already by some political observers whether Mr. Kennedy will have as solid support from Catholics in 1964 as he had in 1960.

The President has antagonized many citizens of the Catholic persuasion because he has said flatly that federal aid to Catholic schools cannot be justified under the Constitution. Yet, under the administration of Protestant presidents in the past, congress has enacted laws that allow federal funds to be used for the construction of dormitories and laboratories in Catholic colleges and for the payment of tuition of war veterans and scholarships for students who wish to attend Catholic-operated institutions.

Striking Statement

Perhaps the most striking statement on the subject that has yet been made by any legal authority comes in an exhaustive analysis of all the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States throughout its history touching on the powers of the states and the federal government as they relate to education in religious and non-religious schools. It was written by Philip B. Kurland, professor of law at the University of Chicago, and was published recently in the university's law review. He says that the question of whether the national government "can contribute financially to parochial education, directly or indirectly," is a continuing one. He concludes as follows:

"Anyone suggesting that the answer to the question, as a matter of constitutional law, is clear one way or the other is either deluding or deluded."

So the issue is bound to be discussed in the next campaign, and it may be added that, because so many of the members of congress now are finding it a hot political issue bac khome, there is little likelihood that for a long time to come any broad measure of federal aid to education will be passed.

Big Arkie, at 13 feet and 600 pounds the largest alligator in captivity by the Little Rock, Ark., Zoo's figures, rests under a sunlamp, trying to recover from a vitamin deficiency. He also takes medicinal spray from an oil can and cod liver oil.

Frost-Bitten Alligator Invited To Florida for Recuperation

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A frost-bitten alligator in Arkansas has been invited to recuperate in the Florida sun with promises of chicken every day and other alligators to play with.

Laura Mae Osceola, member of the Dania Seminole Reservation tribal council, invited Big Arkie to the reservation from his cold-bound pen in Little Rock, Ark.

Big Arkie has been taking heat lamp treatments to ward off effects of cold weather.

Chicken Promised

Mrs. Osceola's invitation to zoo keepers in Little Rock promised chicken every day, plenty of Florida sunshine, other alligators to play with and lots of swimming room.

Raymond A. Squires, director of the Little Rock Zoo, said he hadn't heard from Mrs. Osceola but added that he couldn't let Big Arkie take a Florida vacation.

As to having other alligators to play with, Squires said alligators are not noted for their playfulness. He said Big Arkie is too valuable to be allowed to associate with Little Rock Zoo's 11 other alligators.

Big Arkie, who is 13 feet long and weighs 600 pounds, is suffering from a vitamin deficiency and fungus infection around the mouth that Squires said probably is due to lack of sunlight. The sky light was recently taken out of his indoor pen.

Poet's Formula For Telling Real, False Trances

OXFORD, England (AP) — A formula for telling a real poet from a false one has been advanced by Robert Graves, author and professor of poetry at Oxford University.

In a lecture at Oxford, he said: "True poetic trances excite memorable images, strong personal rhythms and a peculiar syntax which together transcend in emotional force the most considered rhetoric.

"False trances imitate these elements, but deceive no reader of sensibility.

"Any honest, dedicated poet, with a nose and an eye, will take up a new volume of verse, riffle the pages through, and decide after two minutes, by a pricking of his finger tips, whether or not the muse has been in attendance."

Graves said that when one reads or writes a true poem "the hairs stand on end, the eyes water, the throat constricts, the skin crawls and a shiver runs down the spine."

Fallout Has Small Effect on Cancer

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Only a small percentage rise in the incidence of cancer may be expected from bomb test fallout, a British researcher has said.

Dr. Philip R. J. Burch also offered the concept that fallout-type radiation may, in most instances, help produce cancer only if nature has paved the way.

He said there is suggestive evidence that in many instances where radiation is linked with cancer, it acts merely as a supplement to spontaneous changes which have occurred in body cells of certain people leaving them vulnerable.

Burch, a University of Leeds scientist, is doing visiting research at the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratory.

He told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that studies among people exposed to wartime bomb radiation at Hiroshima and Nagasaki suggest:

Two Factors

1. Radiation may hasten the development of cancer in a vulnerable person whose spontaneous cellular changes have not reached the critical point.

2. Radiation might provide the final trigger to touch off cancer in persons who have some vulnerability but who otherwise might escape cancer.

He said that at the low levels of radiation provided by the natural "background" of the earth—and by fallout—the most important cancer-producing effect of radiation is likely to be this "supplementary" one.

But he estimated that for "background" radiation this would mean a responsibility for only between a tenth of one per cent to one per cent of all spontaneous tumors. And, he added, if nuclear testing in the future does not exceed the rates of the past, cancers linked with fallout should not produce more than a 0.04 per cent rise above the level of spontaneously caused cancers.

Churches Should Be for People, Says Architect

VANCOUVER (AP)—Churches, like homes, should be designed for those who live in them, says architect William Wilding.

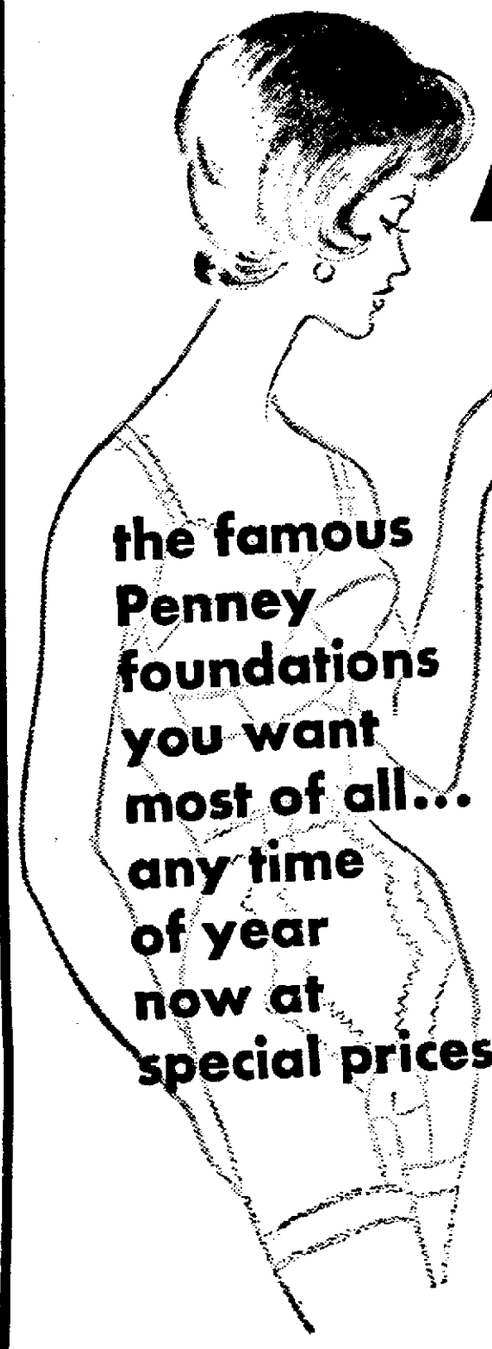

Color, light, fabric and the use of appropriate wood can induce a worshipful response on the part of the church-goer, just as a well planned home gives a sense of warmth and security to a family, he says.

Wilding says the order of service of the church should have an effect on the design of the building:

"Some denominations require a church that could almost be classed as an auditorium, others with a strong emphasis on liturgy require focusing of the main attention on the chancel and the minister."

Trouble in Hungary

People in Hungary are having plenty of trouble with the result that the number of defectors is constantly increasing, according to Inside Hungary, a publication of the Free Europe Committee.

Under the second 5-year plan, Hungary plans to increase its exports to capitalistic countries by 77 per cent. At the same time imports from those countries will be stepped up 32 per cent if the plan works out. At present from 70 to 75 per cent of Hungary's overall foreign trade is with Socialist countries. It is hoped that the increased exports will include a good percentage of machinery. The present plan calls for stepping its exports up by 55 per cent. From 85 to 90 per cent now goes to Socialist countries.

The Free Europe Committee gathers its news of Hungary from Hungarian publications. Some of them indicate quite clearly that there are obstacles to the fulfillment of the economic plans. The drought this year was severe and the news published in Hungary is that the government can "hope the results of the drought do not affect the workers' living standards." Furthermore, increased military expenditures have become necessary because of the international situation and the regime will not be able to fulfill its investment plan in 1962 "to the extent we would like." Other Hungarian newspapers are quoted to the effect that "most probably there will be difficulties in exploiting the production capacity and the supply of raw material." This statement is interpreted to mean that the export plan which is the source of raw materials probably will not be fulfilled.

The government is striving desperately to regulate consumption within Hungary by regulating prices. The prices of eggs, potatoes, vegetables and fruit were 20 to 25 per cent higher in September than in the same month last year. It has reduced the price of coffee, tea, candy, lemons, oranges, bananas, dates, figs, dried currants, pepper and other spices, fares in restaurants, pastries, a few industrial products from 5 to 40 per cent while it raised the price of tobacco products and beer by 70 per cent. The reason for this is to influence consumption so that the products imported, which Hungary is forced to import in order to maintain its trade, will be consumed while the scarce products will be less appealing because of the high price. Many of the products which were reduced in price come from Ghana, Guinea, Brazil, Indonesia, Ceylon and Cuba under trade agreements. It is interesting to note that even though Hungary grows enough sugar beets to supply its needs, large quantities of sugar are being imported from Cuba.

Because of the difficult economic situation, the number of defectors attempting to escape from Hungary is increasing. There are many reports of persons captured and sentenced to prison for attempting to escape. It should be noted, however, that no mention is made of those who may have escaped successfully. One young man living near the border who attempted to escape in 1960 was captured and sentenced to six months in prison. He was no more than out of prison when he tried it again and was sent back for two years. The story is repeated over and over again in various publications along Hungary's borderline. Maximum sentence for illegal border crossing is two years. In 1958, the sentence usually was two to three months but it has been increased sharply recently, probably because of the increased number of attempts.

Border guards receive one week's vacation as a premium for each escapee caught. One border guard platoon caught seven escapees within one year. Members of the Communist Youth League are recruited to hound would-be escapees. One Youth League member was decorated with a gold medal for courage because he had helped to round up escapees.

The material published is quoted directly from Hungarian papers. Nothing could be more plain than that Hungary is a prison for a great many people. Its economy is regulated, the prices of goods are fixed by the government with the result that there is no opportunity for the individual to get ahead. As might be expected, some people with ambition are desperately attempting to get through the Iron Curtain to the West where there is freedom of opportunity for all.

Ulbricht Is Almost Extinct

There have been rumors that Walter Ulbricht, East German puppet boss, is on the way out. Fortunately there haven't been a lot of statues to him that will have to be torn down and he won't be buried in a glass coffin. But since he has been quoted by Pravda about the East German exodus to the West, he ought to make some plans for a trip himself.

Ulbricht reported that the flight of East Germans has cost the East German national economy more than 30 billion marks or about $1½ billion. The three million Germans who fled their homeland for freedom since 1949 took with them in resources, manpower and abilities about 40 per cent of the East German national income.

Ulbricht then tried to explain why so many of the refugees were skilled workers and professionals. Before the dawn of the wonders of Red rule, the older intelligentsia had been subjected to "imperialist political influences." Younger people with brains received the wrong educations. Besides, West German concerns "internationally recruited such specialists to hinder by all means the economic development of our country." A lot more left because somehow they thought they were just going from one Germany to another (over that wall and through that barbed wire?). They had "wrong conceptions of the national question" but, since the wall went up, East Germany has "managed to score great victories in the development of the social consciousness of the intelligentsia."

We could comment there probably is no such thing left in East Germany. Somehow Comrade Ulbricht's explanations don't hold up very well and we doubt that they will meet with favor in the Kremlin. It is quite all right for Communists to turn white to black but they should never rationalize the change or admit that the quarry has fled.

Irked About Foreigners Who Get Social Security

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I don't know how to get a few lines in the People's Forum. Maybe this isn't even any good for such a column. There are a thousand ways to get to talk about these two clippings, so I'll go at it this way.

I have no great amount of education. I don't know if you will even print anything like this. I never saw anything printed like this if it was, disregard this letter. Our head men are always raising our taxes, our (Social Security) just to name a few things. You very seldom hear of someone or something to cut down on taxes of Social Security.

If when people go to vote, if they do, they would vote for a man like Mr. Laird maybe he could cut down on some of our [illegible] defici[illegible] [illegible] some [illegible] Sam [illegible] needy. I have never read anything like it to give these freeloaders a wonderful life in some country that we're already sending millions of dollars worth of supplies to.

To top that some of these smart crooks gets the supplies first and blackmarkets them to the poor people. I don't like to complain. I have a good job in Menasha. I am glad to pay Social Security to help out our old people who cannot work. Some of our people like farmers or factory workers that were ready to retire when Social Security came into effect had one — of a time trying to get anything from Social Security yet we send $80 million for a bunch of 18 month freeloaders.

When they were made citizens (these people from all over the world) would have been put into the army regardless of their age or sex for three years then let them work until they were 65 or 62 years old they wouldn't have been so eager to take Uncle Sam or you and I for 93,574 checks a year.

I'm not a politician or out electioneering for Mr. Laird, but, if just half of the people that read the Post-Crescent read this clipping, I feel I have done just a little something to show the people where our Social Security goes. Who knows where our [illegible] money is going. If somebody would want the name of this little paper it is "The American Citizen" for $2 a year. The Address is The National Research Bureau Inc., Burlington, Iowa. I think, if that $80 million were used in this country and stop playing Big Daddy to these foreigners and let them look for themselves we would be a lot better off.

Abe Lincoln said: Let the people know the truth and the country will be saved.

Floyd Grode

Black Creek, Wis.

The article referred to follows:

WASHINGTON — The United States is sending $80 million a year in Social Security checks to citizens of 100 foreign countries who have returned to their homelands after working here. The possibility that some of them have come to the United States for the express purpose of getting Uncle Sam to finance their retirement at home has been raised by Representative Melvin R. Laird (Rep.-Wis.).

The figures on Social Security payments to foreign nationals were given in testimony of Health, Education, and Welfare Department officials before a House Appropriations Subcommittee.

The department said checks go to 93,574 individuals, more than 25 per cent of them Italians. Italians get nearly $20 million of the total disbursed. Canada, with 12,327 recipients and Greece with 9,729, are next in line.

To qualify for Social Security benefits, an alien who reached retirement age of 65 for men, and 62 for women before 1957 would need to have worked in the United States only 18 months. The total is higher for each succeeding year and is now three years and three months for those reaching retirement age in 1961.

Other Side of Story About Non-Residents Working in State

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I have some comments regarding your article appearing in the issue of Jan. 5 about "Taxation without representation". There is another side to the story than the one you presented.

You indicated that people from Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and Minnesota are going to have to pay Wisconsin income taxes even though they cannot vote, share in welfare aid, and reap other benefits from this state.

The people of Illinois and Michigan have had a good thing for many years. I have known people working in Beloit, Janesville, Niagara, Marinette, etc., who have deliberately moved to South Beloit, Ill., Iron Mountain, or Menominee, Mich., because as residents of those states they could thumb their noses at the Wisconsin Tax Department. Then evenings they go back over the Wisconsin border to escape the Illinois or Michigan sales tax, and make their major purchases in Wisconsin. It is entirely fair and proper that these non-residents pay for using the Wisconsin highways and parking places. When the employer prepares his own tax return, be he corporation, partnership, or individual, he deducts wages paid all his employees, whether resident or not. The resident had to pay income tax on his wages, so the state got some of the money back which the employer had deducted as "business expense," but what was paid to a non-resident, the state lost entirely.

Iowa has had the 2 per cent Iowa non-resident tax for years, where Wisconsin and Illinois residents working in Iowa had amounts deducted from their pay. A Wisconsin resident got a portion of Iowa non-resident tax returned because of the reciprocity agreement.

Thank you for your courtesy in reading my letter. I find your column a very fine source of information.

Breakdown of Family No. 1 U. S. Problem

From The Ogden (Utah) Standard Examiner

After 50 years of service to society, the Family Service Association of America denounced family breakdowns as America's No. 1 social problem. It urged a crash program to fortify the family for the stresses of the sixties. How serious these are, may be judged from the society's list of present stresses:

A tripling of the rate of illegitimacy in the last two decades; a divorce rate of one in four marriages; a tripling of delinquency since 1940; an annual admission rate of more than 200,000 persons to mental hospitals; alcoholism and dope addiction rampant.

These social ills are but a small part of the syndrome that constitutes the over-all debilitating disease of family breakdown, the society notes. Its crusade for strong families through more than 300 family counseling agencies throughout the United States and Canada is vital social action. We can think of nothing more important than prevention of family breakdown for the future social well being of the country.

Meter Maid Hovered As Parker Beat Clock

Editor, Post-Crescent:

A recent experience has made me just about as angry as the Neenah mother whose letter about getting a parking ticket was in the paper last week. Only I was a little luckier. I beat 'er to the meter, so perhaps the meter maid is just as put out with me.

I had just come out of the store where I was shopping and started to cross the street toward my car when I saw the meter maid standing there by my meter and waiting for it to expire. It was midday morning and there were only a few other cars parked in that block. As she saw me, she turned and walked away, not glancing at the other meters.

I knew that I had cut the parking time close, but I also knew that I had allowed enough time. There was a minute or two left so I did not get a ticket, but there she was, waiting. And that brings me to a question some of us have been wondering about. Is there a commission on parking tickets given out? In view of recent events, this is a reasonable question.

I am incensed, outraged, disgusted, and darned mad. The downtown parking situation is approaching the ridiculous and fantastic when the city where I have lived and paid taxes and spent all my money all my life, and my parents before me, and my children after me, hires somebody to watch my parking meter while I do my shopping.

There is another solution to this problem, so simple that I am surprised that no one has yet advanced it. It would give people more of an incentive to police their own meters, but I am not going to mention it here. I'd rather wait and see how much more ridiculous this situation can get.

Congo Still Bloody Mess, So Leave It

From The New York Daily News

A year and a half after liberation, the former Belgian Congo is still a bloody mess, with no cleanup in sight.

The British Government disowned the shooting part of the U.N.'s effort to knit the Congo into one stable republic. Soviet Russia and France flatly refuse to pay any part of the costs of this operation.

Most of these huge expenses are being met by the United States. That condition of affairs seems likely to continue indefinitely.

What we're faced with is the probability of the Congo's developing a running sore which can't be cured from outside by money or force.

Isn't it time for the United States simply to stop bank-rolling the U.N. Congo campaign, thereby forcing withdrawal of the U.N.'s increasingly warlike "peacemakers," and leaving the Congo chiefs to settle their differences by means of the exhilarating tribal wars so dear to the hearts of most Congolese for at least 1,000 years past?

Ways Offered To Avoid Gift Giving Mark

President State Medical Society

How often have you felt trapped and burdened by the too wide-spread custom of exchanging gifts at this special season or any season of the year? And how about the deluge of greeting cards?

I refer, of course, to that which is beyond the circle of family friends, the ill and shut-ins. I am convinced that the next flood to visit this world of ours will not be of water as Noah experienced but rather of paper and cards. How often as we perform this ritual have we not felt just a little guilty in the thought that we are doing this merely as an act of reciprocation? Surely there must be many ways to avoid the stigma of apologies for gifts and give a portion of ourselves.

A gift of a sum of money equal to the amount one usually allots for the purchase and mailing of greeting cards to help replenish the medical student loan fund in the Charitable, Educational and Scientific Foundation is most certainly one way to give a portion of ourselves. Another, is to do the same for the American Medical Education Foundation.

Now Is the Time for Coming to Aid of Party

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The time is approaching for the round of county and district caucuses of the political parties that serve to put the machinery in order for a new campaign for the voters attention and support.

Wyngaard

Comparatively few persons who read these lines will take part in those fairly prosaic but vital meetings in the courthouse towns and elsewhere without which parties could not survive, and without which, ultimately, the kind of government that has been provided in this country could not last.

Party politics does not appeal to the rank and file of the American people, a fact that is regretted by the specialists, but is a fact of national life, nevertheless. Americans are too busy with their private affairs, including their pleasurable diversions from the routine of work and business. In most other democratic systems around the world there tends to be more direct participation in party affairs by the rank and file of the electorate.

HOW IT GOES

For those coming of age, or otherwise disposed to experiment in direct political party participation, however, it may be worth explaining that party activity is actually rewarding and enriching, for persons who take a serious view of their responsibilities as citizens in a time when public affairs have a foreboding significance to all.

Precisely because recruiting for active party work is so difficult, the opportunities for significant and fruitful participation are abundant. It is in fact easier for a man to rise to importance in his county party unit, of whatever persuasion, than it is for him to rise to the front rank in his labor union local, his lodge, his church, or his business association.

Quite literally, both political party organizations welcome recruits with open arms. If a man, or woman, shows reasonable aptitude and diligence and responsibility, it is comparatively easy to become a unit chairman, a county chairman, or even a higher rank, with the public identification of "leadership" that accompanies it.

These generalizations are trite to the several thousands of party activists in Wisconsin, most of whom could point to their own experiences to verify them. But political reporters are keenly aware that they are not quite accepted by the uninitiated. To them there appears something esoteric about party politics, something mysterious and beyond the common ken. Yet all they need do is look around them, and remember the origins of the careers of those state or local politicians who hold power and position. In most cases they entered their party organizations as easily and as informally as is here being suggested.

THE REWARDS

Wisconsin party politics is comparatively simple in its arrangements. The party politician, rank for rank, holds less actual power here than in some of the states of the country where laws, traditions and popular acceptance permit machine rule.

Yet it is not entirely without its practical returns. The county chairman does have a voice in the picking of postmasters, when his party is in power. The practicing local politician with a demonstrated record of work does get a respectful hearing when he telephones the governor of his party and asks for a favor or makes a suggestion. The congressman knows who the district activists are, and doesn't hesitate to acknowledge them. To the extent that prestige is associated with power, the local party politician finds it comparatively easy to attain — if he works at his job.

But beyond such rewards are the intangible returns, the realization that the man or woman has had a hand in the history of the time, the satisfaction of contributing to the channel of political decision that extends to the White House and beyond it to the councils of nations, and the awareness that a good citizen's duty is more than merely pulling a lever at intervals to say aye or nay on candidates chosen by others and policies evolved by somebody else.

Irish Brigade at Camp Randall

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Jan. 9, 1862.

The 17th Wisconsin Regiment, or Irish Brigade, has been ordered to Camp Randall. One company, the Mulligan Guards, already has arrived and another is expected from Fond du Lac tonight. The others will come up at the rate of one per day, until the regiment is filled up.

The regimental officers already are in camp. Authority has been granted to raise 20 companies if thought advisable by the officers, and it will be seen by the subjoined list that 13 companies already have been formed.

The Colonel is John L. Doran of Milwaukee; major, Thomas McMahon of Jefferson; adjutant, William Henry Plunkett of Dane county; Quartermaster, John Gee, Sheboygan; surgeon, H. McKennan of Sauk County; assistant surgeon, J. C. Davis, Dodge County; and Napoleon Mignault, Brown County, chaplain.

The companies and their captains include the following:

Doran Guards of Outagamie County, Welcome Hyde.

Mulligan Guards of Kenosha, Hugh McDermott.

Corcoran Guards, Sheboygan, John McGowan.

Emmett Guards, Dodge County, P. H. McCauley.

French Mountaineers, Brown County, Capt. Southworth.

Watertown Infantry, Jefferson County, D. D. Scott.

Sauk County Union Guards, Charles Armstrong.

Jackson Guards, Juneau County, John Crane.

Fond du Lac Guards, Juneau County, Capt. O'Connor.

Harvey Guards, Dane County, William A. Wheeler.

Oconto Rifles, Oconto County, Capt. McAfee.

Milwaukee Badgers, Milwaukee County, Richard Rooney.

Rebuilding the old timber-lined lock at Little Kaukauna during the winter of 1937-1938 was recommended by rivers and harbors engineers of the War Department in Washington. For this and other work on the Fox River, the department recommended to Congress an allotment of $237,000 with $100,000 earmarked for the Little Kaukauna lock.

Al Kranzusch was named scoutmaster of the Roosevelt Boy Scout Troop 12. He originally was a member of Troop 13 of First English Lutheran Church, which in 1927 changed its sponsorship to the Roosevelt PTA and its number to Troop 12.

Laura Stroud Bartsch, formerly of Chicago, gave a piano program for the Glencoe Garden Club of Glencoe, Ill., that week. The Appleton pianist also presented a program for the Green Bay DAR and was preparing concerts with Clarence Shepard of Oshkosh for later in the spring at Carroll College and at a vesper musicale in Oshkosh.

Miss Maye Holmberg presented a talk on Scandinavia at a meeting of Iota chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. She wore a costume copied after the Norwegian traditional style. Her talk was based on a cruise she took the previous summer to Norway, Sweden, Iceland, the British Isles, France and Germany.

Appleton awoke to a heavy cover of snow when five inches fell without warning. The wet, heavy snowfall started at 4 a. m., settling on the city and immobilizing many drivers on their way to work. The snowfall continued until 10 a. m., bringing the total cover to 10 inches.

David Wieckert, route 2, Appleton, was named the outstanding 4-H club member in Holstein breeding in Wisconsin. The youth also was cited for his work in dairying.

Mrs. Ralph Bohl was named general chairman of a Jaycette style show to benefit the Appleton Memorial Hospital fund. Other committee chairmen included Mrs. Karel Zimmerman, Mrs. Fred Heinritz and Mrs. Ernie Holiday.

Charles C. Hervey was appointed 15th Ward county supervisor by Mayor Robert L. Roemer to fill the unexpired term of John R. Miller.

Discussion leaders of the two Appleton Great Books groups, which met weekly at the library, were Mrs. William Cherkasky, John S. Denigan, Mrs. Eleanor Genovese and Tom Burns.

NFL Reports Record High Attendance for 1961 Season

Increase in Player Limit Turned Down

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Booming National Football League attendance hit a record high of 3,986,159 in 1961 with an average crowd of 40,675 at each of 98 regular season games.

"We are enthusiastic about the general balance of our attendance," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who was re-elected Monday for a new five-year term at $50,000 a year.

"From 1952 to 1959 Los Angeles was very successful with big crowds of 70,000 and 75,000 accounting for a good share of our attendance. Although the Rams were not utilizing their biggest stadium in the league to full capacity, our attendance still went up. That is a healthy trend. We are sorry we missed by only 14 thousand from hitting the 4 million mark."

Jim Kensil, league public relations chief, did not announce any individual club breakdown when he released the official paid attendance figures. He said the average crowd in 1961 was 40,675, compared to 40,106 in 1960, an increase per game of 569.

Cleveland Leads

Unofficial Associated Press figures showed that Cleveland led the league with 426,886, followed by New York with 423,949 and Philadelphia with 412,318. The largest single turnout was 80,455 at Cleveland for the Nov. 26 game with New York.

The re-election of Rozelle came as no surprise because the league has enjoyed unprecedented success in his regime. He just finished the second year of an original three-year term following his election as a compromise choice at the stormy 1960 meeting. Although Rozelle received no salary increase, it was expected that adjustments would be made later after current problems have been resolved.

After negotiating a single network CBS television deal calling for $9 million plus over a two-year period, Rozelle suffered a setback last summer when a federal judge ruled the pact in violation of antitrust laws. Rozelle then led a battle that ended in congressional action approving single network deals for pro football, baseball, basketball and hockey.

"We may expand in the next five years," said Rozelle. "Right now we have no immediate plans for adding clubs. We want to get the Dallas and Minnesota fran-

Nelson Sets Iowa Mark But Is Overshadowed By Dischinger Again

Terry Hits 45 Points as Purdue Beats Illinois; Minnesota Gains Second Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Nelson of Iowa is one of those extraordinary basketball players who doesn't come along too often. But this Don Nelson had the misfortune of breaking into the Big Ten along with Jerry Lucas of Ohio State and Terry Dischinger of Purdue.

As a result, Don Nelson has played in the shadows of his All-America counterparts the last two seasons. Last night Don Nelson scored 36 points in leading Iowa to a 74-69 victory over Northwestern.

This made him the highest scoring player in Iowa history with a total of 1,206 points, eclipsing the mark of 1,188 held by both Bill Logan and Dave Gunther.

But as fate would have it, Nelson had to play second fiddle to Dischinger on the night of his illustrious feat. Dischinger, two-time Big Ten scoring champion was putting on his show with 45 points to lift the Boilermakers to a 96-89 triumph over Illinois.

Behind Dischinger

Nelson, who finished third behind Dischinger and Lucas in the Big Ten scoring race last season, now has 75 points in his first two games. Dischinger has 76.

Lucas and his undefeated and favored Buckeye teammates were idle last night and as a result surprising Wisconsin and Minnesota climbed into a first place tie with 2-0 records.

Wisconsin became the only other team to win a conference game away from home by dealing Michigan State an 83-78 setback and Minnesota bested Indiana, 104-100, in a classic scoring duel.

Minnesota, a team which figures to gain momentum as the season rolls on, set a school scoring record in wiping out the previous mark of 102 points. Eric MagDanz led the Gophers with 30 points and Ray Cronk added 25 as three other Minnesota starters hit in double figures.

Jimmy Rayl of Indian was the game's leading scorer with 32 22

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The upstart Wisconsin Badgers held a share of the Big Ten basketball lead today after coming from behind on the play of Ken Siebel, Ron Jackson and Tom Gwyn to beat Michigan State 83-78.

The victory Monday night was the second in as many conference starts for the Badgers. Minnesota has won both its starts and Ohio State its only outing. The Badgers now will turn their attention to semester examinations and won't return to action until Jan. 23.

The game was rough and tough and had 7,247 fans yelling themselves hoarse. In the final second Gwyn squared off with State's Pete Gent after the Spartan had sent the Badger sprawling. Earlier Jackson and Gent had exchanged a challenge. It cost the Badgers a technical foul.

Wisconsin won the game on the foul line.

The Spartans, 0-2 in the conference and 5-5 overall, were charged with 23 fouls and Wisconsin eight. The Badgers hit on 19 of 31 free shots while Michigan State put in 8 of 10. State outshot the Badgers from the floor, 35 baskets to 32.

Rebounding Edge

Wisconsin had an edge in rebounds, 56 to 54 and shot 45 per cent from the floor while Michigan State put in only 38 per cent of its shots.

The Badgers, taking their second straight victory here, had built up a 14-point lead with seven minutes left in the half.

Then the Spartans launched an aggressive attack in an attempt to catch up. They succeeded in cutting Wisconsin's edge to 35-33 but trailed 41-37 at the intermission.

Michigan State kept up the pressure in the second half and squeezed out in front 54-53 after Jack Lamers put in five straight points on two baskets and a free throw. Lamers used to play with Wisconsin's Don Hearden at Kimberly High School.

The score was tied at 61, 65, 69 and 74 while the lead changed hands eight times. Siebel tossed in eight points in the comeback.

Ask Delay in Investigation Of NCAA, AAU

Senators From West Coast Want Federal Intervention

BY DON WEISS

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association has urged the White House to hold off a possible federal investigation of its power struggle with the national AAU until "all avenues of negotiations are exhausted," Executive Director Walter Byers said today.

"The report I gave to White House representatives was that I, personally, felt that intervention by the federal government, from either the executive or legislative branches, could come as a last resort," Byers told The Associated Press.

"If it develops that a reasonable solution to these difficulties cannot be obtained, then I am sure the colleges will be the first to welcome the government's help."

Byers' confirmation to the Oakland Tribune's report that President Kennedy has been urged to intervene by several West Coast senators came in the wake of another step in the NCAA-AAU fight, this one involving track and field.

Coaches Petition

Opening the week-long run of the NCAA convention, Byers announced Monday that the NCAA had been petitioned by track coaches to take the lead in formation of a U.S. track and field federation that would greatly reduce AAU influence in the sport.

A similar federation has been proposed by the NCAA in basketball in the continuing struggle over representation to the international bodies in both sports.

In its petition to the NCAA, the National Collegiate Track Coaches Association—headed by Chick Werner of Penn State—said:

"There is widespread discontent among athletes, coaches and administrative organizations with the policy making and general conduct of affairs concerning track and field athletics in the United States, especially in regard to international matters.

"It is the conviction of the association that national track and field matters should be determined by representative thinking and voting, rather than by AAU dictate."

The proposed federation would be composed of representatives of the NCAA, AAU, armed forces and high schools. A similar federation in which the YMCA would be included as been proposed by the NCAA in basketball.

If the struggle can't be settled among the two groups, the international organizations in the respective sports would hold the final authority.

Powerful Loyola of Chicago, Marquette Clash Tonight

Ramblers Have 3 Players at 6-9, Rank 2nd Nationally in Scoring

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Marquette basketball Coach Ed Hickey expects tonight's game with Loyola of Chicago to be a wild and wooly affair. He says, as a matter of fact, "We'll probably melt most of the snow within blocks of the Arena."

The Warriors will be meeting their most formidable opponent thus far when they take to the floor against the Ramblers. Loyola, which ranks second nationally in scoring, has topped 90 points in seven games this season.

The Ramblers boast three players who stand 6-9 and another one at 6-6. There are two little guys—they're only 6-4.

"I think we can beat them," was the simple statement from Loyola Coach George Ireland after he scouted Marquette's 75-68 triumph over DePaul.

"I'm frightened to death because of Loyola's great height and considerable depth," Hickey admitted pessimistically.

Only Loss

The Warriors are playing on the familiar Arena floor where they have won six of seven starts. Their 7-4 overall record, however, looks a little anemic compared with the Ramblers, who have been beaten only by national champion Ohio State.

The biggest pain in Marquette's side probably will be the one-two of Gerry Harkness and Mike Gavin, who ran circles around the Warrior defense in the 81-78 Loyola victory at Chicago last year.

The giants on the invading squad, all 6-9, are Floyd Bosley, Les Hunter and Rich Rochelle. Harkness, Gavin and Vic Rouse, 6-6, round out the Rambler first line with a spare.

Hickey will counter with the guard tandem of Ron Glaser, who leads Marquette scoring with a 16.4 game average, and Dick Nixon. Bob Hornak and Dave Erickson will be at the forward spots, and the pivot will be handled by Len Jefferson, 6-8, and Willie Kingsley, 6-9, both of whom will have to jack up their scoring if they expect to give the taller Rambler team a fight on even terms.

Bobcats Will Tangle With Milwaukee

GREEN BAY — Back in the U. S. Hockey League race on the wings of a weekend sweep against Minneapolis, the Green Bay Bobcats are priming for a grudge match with the Milwaukee Metros here Wednesday night.

It was the fourth place Metros who snapped a six-game Green Bay winning streak Dec. 13 and sent the Bobcats into a tailspin that plunged them out of first place.

After that loss at Milwaukee, the Bobcats lost three more in succession to fall three games behind the Rochester Mustangs.

They now trail Rochester by two games in the wake of their weekend double victory and the Mustangs' split with the Des Moines Oak Leafs.

The Green Bay skaters and the Metros go into tomorrow night's game all even in their season series. The Bobcats won their first meeting here, 13 to 6.

Foxes Apply For Berth in Midwest Loop

The Fox Cities Foxes have made formal application to join the Class D Midwest League, General Manager Bob Willis announced Monday afternoon.

The application will be acted upon at the league meeting in Chicago Sunday.

Eau Claire Trims River Falls, 82-64

EAU CLAIRE (AP)—Eau Claire picked up its second victory in three State College Conference starts Monday night with an 82-64 basketball triumph over River Falls.

The victors erased an early 13-point deficit to go in front 37-36 at halftime. They widened the margin after the intermission.

Sonny Jurgensen To Have Surgery On Shoulder

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles' all-pro quarterback, Sonny Jurgensen, undergoes surgery today to repair his right shoulder which was severely separated in the National Football League Runnerup Bowl.

The surgeon, Dr. Mike Mandarino, who also is the club's team physician, said the 27-year-old star who set passing records in his first year as a regular "should be all right for next season."

"He might even be playing basketball in about eight weeks," said Mandarino.

Name Dressen Toronto Pilot

Charlie Back in Minors After 8-Year Absence

TORONTO (AP)—Charlie Dressen, a baseball nomad for over 40 years, set up shop here today as the new manager of the International League's Toronto Maple Leafs.

His last place of employment was Milwaukee, where he managed the National League Braves for most of two seasons, before being fired last September.

But Monday his temporary unemployment ceased when he was hired to run the Braves' triple-A club—the first time Dressen has managed in the minor leagues since leading Oakland of the Pacific Coast League in 1951.

John McHale, president and general manager of the Braves who approved Dressen's ouster last Sept. 2 amidst reports of team revolt and dissension, was pleased with his agreement to run the Leafs.

Nothing at All

"We've always thought highly of Charlie as a baseball man," he said. "They hired their own man and we were happy to go along with them."

Dressen made it seem like nothing at all, when he said in Los Angeles:

"A couple of other things might have materialized, too, but they didn't work out. McHale treated me very fairly and so did the others. And they know I'll take good care of their players."

The 63-year old Dressen will step into a "hot spot". The Leafs won the IL pennant in 1960 under current Cleveland manager Mel McGaha, but last year slipped to fifth place. Johnny Lipon started the season as manager, but was fired and catcher Tim Thompson finished up.

Dischinger Holds Scoring Lead; Ron Jackson Third

CHICAGO (AP) — Despite the climb of two players into the group of those averaging 20 or more points a game, Terry Dischinger of Purdue remained in first place in the Big Ten all-games basketball scoring race.

Dischinger, with 308 points in 11 games for a 28.0 average, was well in front of Jimmy Rayl of Indiana through Monday's games. Rayl has 277 points in 11 games for a 25.1 average.

Climbing into the select group were Don Nelson of Iowa and Eric MagDanz of Minnesota. Nelson has 246 points and a 22.3 average giving him fourth place behind Wisconsin's Ron Jackson, who had a 22.5 mark on 248 points in 11 games.

Howie Koplitz Is Called by Army

OSHKOSH (AP) — Howie Koplitz, 23-year-old pitcher who was picked recently by the Sporting News as the minor league player of 1961, has been called to active Army duty at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., for six months.

The young right-hander had a 23-3 season at Birmingham in the Class AA Southern Association, including a no-hitter, then was called up by the Detroit Tigers and posted two late season victories.

Twins' Rookie Enters Marines for 6 Months

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Bernie Allen, rookie Minnesota Twins bonus second baseman, will enter the Marines Feb. 25 under the six-months plan.

Allen, 22, former Purdue athlete, will start training at Parris Island, S.C. and is scheduled for release Aug. 24. He played for the Twins' Wilson farm team in the Carolina League last season.

Tom Miller, Packer publicist, was rehashing the Bays' draft list at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Mike and Pen Club at the Elks Club Monday noon. Miller unearthed these facts:

1. Eighty-five per cent of the list has been signed. 2. Two players were signed by the rival American League. 3. One went to Canada. 4. Six players have been announced as signed. 5. And "some of our boys looked good in the bowl games."

'Junior Eligibles'

Five of the 23 players are "junior eligibles," meaning that they have another year of college football left. They could be drafted because their original class will be graduated this coming June.

Lost to Canada is center Mike Snodgrass, the 20th choice from Western Michigan College. Going to the AFL are tackle Gary Cutsinger of Oklahoma State, seventh choice; and back-kicker Tom Pennington of Georgia, the 12th choice.

Outside of the five juniors and these three, the Packers have 15 players left. Six of the fifteen have been signed, including choices 1, 2, 3 and 4 as well as the 18th and 19th picks. The remaining nine players are unsigned [illegible] seasons, including spring sports.

White Sox Going Back To Speed and Defense

Al Lopez Believes Chicago Could be Pennant Contender

BY JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—Back in 1959, the Chicago White Sox put together speed, defense and good pitching to crack New York Yankee dominance of the American League and win a pennant.

After a brief trial of power baseball, the Sox are back working on the 1959 formula in hopes of developing another winner.

Minnie Minoso and Roy Sievers, the power hitters acquired in 1960, are gone along with veteran southpaw Billy Pierce. In their place are guys named Charley Smith, Joe Cunningham, John Buzhardt and Bob Farley.

"We're going back to the system which won us a pennant," said Manager Al Lopez at the club's annual mid-winter meeting. "We dealt power and age for youth, pitching, speed and defense."

The Sox believe the acquisition of Smith will settle their long-time problem at third base which wasn't solved even when they won the pennant.

Eyed As Starter

Buzhardt, who came along with Smith from Philadelphia in the Sievers deal, is being eyed as a starter to go along with Juan Pizarro, Ray Herbert and Frank Baumann.

Lopez feels the Sox will be a pennant contender. If so, they will have to solve a lot of problems in spring training.

Their main pennant obstacle is the fact the Yankees are in the league. Taking it from there, the Sox must develop a bullpen, find a first baseman, wonder if young Camilo Carreon and aging Sherm Lollar can handle the catching chores and hope second baseman Nellie Fox can come back after his average dipped to .251.

Lopez will have to select a bullpen from such pitchers as Ed Fisher, Dom Zanni, Gary Peters and Joel Horlen, all of whom have had little more than minor league experience. Veterans Turk Lown and Russ Kemmerer still are around.

Cunningham, Farley and J. C. Martin will contend for the first base job. Luis Aparicio will be at shortstop. Al Smith, Jim Landis and Floyd Robinson probably will make up the outfielder with rookie Mike Hershberger making a strong bid.

Now what about those Yankees? Says Lopez:

"Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris can't have the season they had last year. Mantle and Bill Skowron are feeling their bumps. Yogi Berra is another year older. Tony Kubek is in the Army. Their pitching isn't that great."

So whose the team to beat?

Rodgers Wins Tourney With Record 268

Fires Final-Round 62, Triumphs by 9 Shots at LA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A rookie with only six months experience on the tournament trail has won the first major prize of his professional career, the $45,000 Los Angeles Open.

Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., may never do it again, but Monday he routed the older, more established pros with a tournament record nine-under par 62 and 72-hole total of 268. A pro barely a year, Rodgers left his nearest challengers behind by nine strokes and won $7,500.

It was the widest margin of victory since Mike Souchak piled up the same score over Billy Casper and Doug Ford in the Motor City Open at Northville, Mich., in August 1959.

Rodgers' round cracked the 36-year-old tournament record of 63 shared by Tommy Bolt and Ken Venturi and erased the 72-hole score of 272 set by Lloyd Mangrum in 1956.

Limited Fame

Rodgers' previous fame was limited. He won the National Collegiate Championship as a sophomore in 1958 at the University of Houston. He was low amateur in the Los Angeles open in 1960.

Last year he won the Mexican Open in Mexico City, and in October he won the Sahara pro-amateur at Las Vegas.

His forte is the short game, which was deadly Monday. His early tutor was one of golf's greatest short game masters, Paul Runyan, now a pro at La Jolla.

For the record, Hawkins and Goalby were the runners-up at 277. It was worth $3,325 apiece.

The more famous players closed strong but were never serious contenders. They included:

Van Elzen's Rallies, Stays Undefeated

KIMBERLY — Van Elzen's rallied for 29 points in the final quarter to defeat Jerry's Lanes, 57-45, and remain undefeated after seven games in the KRA Basketball League

Warren Polman hit 16 points for the winners, while Bernie Van Roy scored 15 for the losers.

Dud's Bar scored its first win of the campaign, edging Ole's Bar, 49-48, in the second game. Ole's led, 39-38, at the end of the third frame, but was outscored by two points in the final quarter.

Friday's Games
Reedsville at Denmark.
Freedom at Wrightstown.
Omro at Bear Creek.
Hilbert at Hortonville.
Shiocton at Winneconne.

A clearer picture of the close Little Nine Conference title race should be available by the weekend, because a double set of games will be played this week.

Tonight's feature tilt will have leading Winneconne (5-1) meeting Bear Creek, one of four teams tied for second place with a 4-2 record.

Other games on tap tonight are: Hortonville at Omro, Hilbert at Reedsville, Denmark at Freedom and Wrightstown at Shiocton.

Take Over Lead

Winneconne took over the league lead by trimming Hortonville last Friday while Bear Creek was suffering a 60-48 defeat at the hands of Shiocton. If Winneconne gets by Bear Creek tonight, it runs against the improving Shiocton team Friday in another key contest.

Bear Creek, after four straight league wins, has lost two in a row and faces "must win" situations this week in order to stay in title contention.

Omro, Reedsville and Denmark (all 4-2) also will be eyeing victories in order to remain with the title contenders. The three have been hot of late with each winning three of their last four games.

launched with six minutes left. Gwyn's basket put Wisconsin out in front to stay with 2 25 left. His shot made the score 76-74.

Jackson clinched the victory with a driving layup and a free throw to make the score 81 - 74. Michigan State's Bill Berry put in two baskets as time was running out.

With a second left, Gwyn, who had been fouled several times as the Spartans tried desperately for the ball, decided then to settle things with Gent. The officials and Wisconsin Coach Johnny Erickson restored order.

When the game was over Erickson toured the floor shaking hands with State Coach Forddy Anderson and every Spartan he could find.

Jackson was the game's top scorer, getting 23 points. Siebel added 18, Gwyn 13 and Hearden 13. Ted Williams was high for state with 14.

Huerta New Grid Coach At Wichita

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Marcelino Huerta Jr., 37, for 10 years athletic director and head football coach at the University of Tampa, Fla., was picked Monday as the University of Wichita's new head football coach.

Bob Donaldson, screening committee spokesman, said Huerta was among prospects recommended highly by Hank Foldberg, head grid coach who left Wichita to become athletic director and coach at Texas A&M Jan. 1.

Donaldson said the committee vote was unanimous. He said Huerta accepted a three-year contract offer by Wichita President Harry F. Corbin, "at a figure comparable to that paid Foldberg."

Foldberg received $12,000 a year in 1961, his first at Wichita; was boosted to $13,000 a year last February.

Huerta's teams at Tampa, an independent of 1,400 enrollment, had a 10-year record of 67 victories, 31 losses and 2 ties.

McClendon to Keep 3-Platoon System at Louisiana State

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Charley McClendon, a chunky gridiron genius known as "a coach's coach," Monday won his spurs as a head football coach—succeeding Paul Dietzel at Louisiana State.

For McClendon, a 38-year-old Lewisville, Ark., native, it was a promotion from the ranks. He served seven years as Dietzel's chief assistant until Dietzel left last Friday to become head coach at West Point.

Athletic Director Jim Corbett acted swiftly to fill the vacancy, but emphasized his action had nothing to do with McClendon's weekend interview for the head coaching spot at his alma mater —Kentucky.

"This is a tremendous challenge and I'm looking straight ahead," McClendon told a news conference. He said he will continue to use the three platoon system employed successfully by Dietzel.

"The White team, the Go team and the Chinese Bandits are part LSU football. Our players believe in it and so do I," said McClendon.

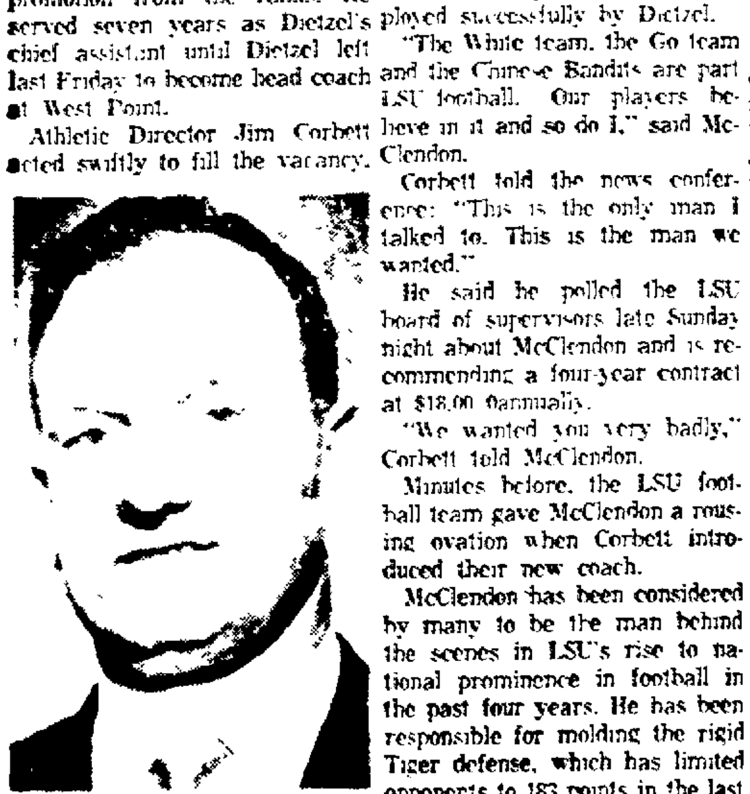

Corbett told the news conference: "This is the only man I talked to. This is the man we wanted."

He said he polled the LSU board of supervisors late Sunday night about McClendon and is recommending a four-year contract at $18,00 0annually.

"We wanted you very badly," Corbett told McClendon.

Minutes before, the LSU football team gave McClendon a rousing ovation when Corbett introduced their new coach.

McClendon has been considered by many to be the man behind the scenes in LSU's rise to national prominence in football in the past four years. He has been responsible for molding the rigid Tiger defense, which has limited opponents to 183 points in the last 40 regular season games — an average of 4.57 points per game.

chises well off the ground first. The new stadium at Washington has been the big plus of the last two years. New parks in St. Louis and Pittsburgh by 1964 or 1965 are two important keys to the future."

The NFL turned down a proposal to increase the player limit from 36 to 38 men with six clubs reported voting against the increase. Twelve votes were needed. It also rejected a suggestion to set up an injured player reserve list. Injured players, not inactivated for the season, must continue to go through the waiver system before they can be restored to the active list.

The trading limit was extended to the period before the fifth game instead of the third game and the clubs again were given permission to use players in military service with the consent of the player's commanding officer. Such players, however, must be on the original 36-man active list.

The owners heard a brief discussion of the various pay TV systems in use. Rozelle called it a "more or less educational report", and added "I am not eager to see it."

A progress report on the $10 million civil antitrust suit filed in 1960 by the rival American Football League, will be heard today or Wednesday. The suit is scheduled to be heard Feb. 19 at Baltimore.

The player requests of the players' association also will be discussed before the meeting ends Wednesday.

Former Hurler Ad Brennan Dies After Long Illness

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Addison Foster "Ad" Brennan, an old-time major league pitcher, died Sunday after a long illness, which included two operations and long hospital stays in the past year.

The 75-year-old former player with the Philadelphia Phillies and the Chicago Cubs grew up at Laharpe, Kan., and four years ago was selected for the Kansas Hall of Fame.

Brennan began his baseball career with Kansas and Missouri minor league teams and was bought by the Kansas City Blues. But he never played for the Blues. He and Earl Hamilton and Rollie Atchison, also pitchers, were sold to major league teams on the advice they were too small. All three went on to become major league players.

Xavier Freshmen Chalk Up Fifth Straight Victory

The Xavier High School freshmen romped to their fifth straight basketball victory of the season Sunday, trimming Stevens Point Pacelli, 65-30.

Bob Jones paced the Xavier scoring with 18 points. Jim Hayes added 12.

Xavier will play host to the Menasha St. Mary freshmen, at 7.30 p.m. Thursday.

Archie Moore to Meet Lavorante In March Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore agreed Monday to meet Argentine heavyweight Alejandro Lavorante in a 10-round contest in the Los Angeles Sports Arena in late March.

Matchmaker George Parnassus said the fighters agreed to terms after 10 days of negotiations. Parnassus said he had to guarantee Moore $35,000 with an option of 35 per cent of the gate. Lavorante will receive 25 per cent of the gate. The exact date depends upon television terms. Parnassus said

"He finally has walked into our trap," said Pinky George, manager of the South American fighter. "We have wanted this match for more than a year."

AFL Chieftain Won't Tolerate Public Gripes

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — American Football League club owners, managers and coaches will be fined up to $1,000 if they gripe in public about officiating Commissioner Joe Foss says.

He said Monday night he won't fine Sid Gillman, San Diego Chargers coach, for griping publicly about officials in the championship game but added:

"If they complain in the press or at booster club meetings in the future, I'll give 'em the ax."

Foss said he told the unhappy AFL representatives to take their gripes to the leagues office.

Monday's sessions were taken up with a treasurer's report, player retirement fund discussion, a briefing on a $10 million suit against the rival National Football League and officiating.

Kappell's Sure Of Title Share

Stays Unbeaten By Downing Badger Northland

KAUKAUNA — Kappell's Bar (5-0) clinched a share of the first-half title in the City Basketball League Sunday by downing Badger Northland 78-51.

Shamrock Bar (4-1) downed Gustman's, 67-60, to remain in the running. Thilco scored its first victory, 45-41, over winless Tony's Bar.

Kappell's outscored Badger in every period after jumping off to a 20-8 advantage at the end of the first quarter. Jim Steger hit 13 for the winners, while Marcel Lamers scored 14 for the losers.

Shamrock Bar opened a 20-13 lead over Gustman's and were never headed, widening the gap to 30-29 at the halfway point. Jerry Hopfensperger paced the winners with 26 points, while Bill Borcherdt scored 33 for the losers.

Thilco held a 19-17 advantage at halftime. Tom Noie hit 12 points for the winners, while Ron Vandenberg tallied 23 for the losers.

Southern Cal Climbs to Fourth In AP Cage Poll

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State, one of the two major college basketball teams still unbeaten, maintained its unblemished record with the sports writers and broadcasters, too, receiving first place votes on all ballots cast this week in The Associated Press poll.

Cincinnati and Kentucky held firmly to their second and third places, respectively. All others shifted positions although none of last week's top ten fell out of the select group.

The University of Southern California, twice victor over California over the weekend, advanced two notches to fourth place while Kansas State and Villanova each dropped a berth to fifth and sixth, respectively. Kansas State lost to Colorado Saturday 75-61 and Villanova was knocked off the unbeaten list by West Virginia 88-82.

The top ten, with points on a 10 9 8-7 6 5 4 3 2 1 basis (first place votes and records through Jan. 7 in parentheses):

Lake Michigan Commercial 'Take' Increases

Superior Trout Harvest Continues To Show Decline

MADISON (AP)—Although lake trout production in Lake Michigan remained virtually nonexistent, the total catch by commercial fishermen showed a substantial increase in 1960 and the dollar value of the catch increased.

But in Lake Superior, the lake trout fishery continued its decline and so did the total catch and its dollar value, a Conservation Department statistical summary of the state's major commercial fish producers showed today.

The study, by District Fish Manager L. W. Wiegert, showed Lake Michigan's total catch at 14 8 million pounds, up from 12 4 million the previous year. Dollar value was $1 4 million, compared with $1.2 million.

In Lake Superior, some 108,000 pounds of lake trout were taken, compared with 181,966 the previous year, and the total catch declined from 4.3 million pounds to 3.5 million, while dollar value reached $434.000, compared with $512,000 in 1959

Whitefish Increase

Lake Michigan showed a startling 350 per cent increase in whitefish production, jumping from 19.500 pounds in 1959 to 67,700 in 1960. Lake Superior showed a more modest 9.4 per cent increase in whitefish, but Wiegert predicted that the production should continue to rise, at least for another year.

The herring catch declined in both lakes, as did smelt Gill net chub production from Lake Michigan remained at about 3.8 million pounds, but the catch per effort declined, indicating a further decrease in the population of large chubs, Wiegert said.

Lake Superior chub production, "as in other species, again reflects a decrease in fishing effort," he added. The number of commercial fishermen licensed increased slightly, but there appeared to be a trend toward more part time fishermen.

(The extra No. 6 choice came on a trade.)

Looks Strong

Miller enthused over the play of the potential Packers in the various bowl games, pointing out; "Gros looks strong and he gained 114 yards. It's quite a thing Gros and the Bears' first choice (Ronnie Bull) looking so good in the same game (Senior Bowl).

"And how about Gassert in the U S bowl? He was picked as the third outstanding player and that's something when you consider that linemen hardly ever get a tumble when they have to compete with backs. Gassert looked like Henry Jordan's twin—the way he walked, ran around and even some of his plays.

"I think Weidner surprised everybody as quarterback for Colorado in the Orange Bowl He didn't have much help. And did you notice that Schenck intercepted a pass in the Senior Bowl?"

The Packers may go to camp with two rookie quarterbacks if Weidner gets on the band wagon with Joiner. Lombardi is constantly on the lookout for a future Starr. And Joiner you can be sure, will get a close look.

Pittsburgh Confirms Reports That Students Have Been Disciplined

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh issued a statement Monday, confirming reports that a number of students, including some athletes, have been disciplined for "personal conduct."

Chancellor Edward H. Litchfield issued the statement and said it was in response to inquiries.

Litchfield's statement was the first official word since published reports last week that six members of the Pitt football team were involved.

"If the students can profit from their mistakes," Litchfield said, "there is every reason to expect that the entire matter will be settled and forgotten before the opening of another school year."

Annual Congressional 'Search for Sin' About to Start Making News

Committees Investigators Will Quiz Press Agents, 'B-Girls,' Movie Men

BY JAMES McCARTNEY
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — The annual congressional search for sin is about to start—with a parade of witnesses from press agents to prostitutes, missile makers to movie men.

This year's congressional investigations will star representatives of the world's oldest profession as well as one of its newest.

B-girls will share the spotlight with Defense Department scientists.

The question for the scientists will be whether some have profited in the stock market from inside information gleaned in doing defense research at taxpayer's expense.

B-Girls Testify

The B-girls will be dragged onto the congressional stage by the Senate Rackets Committee in a search for information about the American Guild of Variety Artists, an entertainment business union

The suspicion is that the union in some parts of the country may have been taken over to make money off vice.

This is just a start on a long list of congressional investigations expected to attract headlines in the months to come during the second session of the 87th Congress

Congressional probes today are a blossoming $10,000,000-a - year business, with hundreds of employees—representing one of the most significant activities of congress.

Still Has Power

While control of foreign affairs and the great decisions of war and peace have passed largely to the executive branch, congress still has its power to investigate.

And investigate it does—appropriating more and more money for the purpose every year.

The defense program is destined to be on the spot this year in at least two major hearings—one involving military propaganda, the other suspected profiteering.

The celebrated "Walker Case" probe — involving the so-called muzzling of the military — will kick off Jan. 23, with resigned Maj. Gen Edwin A. Walker as a key witness.

He will talk about his controversial troop indoctrination program in Germany, which led to his resignation.

But before the Senate subcommittee is finished it hopes to look into a broad range of "public information" activities emanating from the Pentagon

Another Probe

Another Senate subcommittee is planning an investigation of suspected profiteering by businessmen in the nation's $3 billion missile base program.

This subcommittee will study how much profit particular manufacturers have made on component parts of missiles.

Investigators say that profits, in some cases, have tended to snowball in relations between subcontractors and prime contractors.

In the non-defense field, House highway probers will be back at work trying to illustrate new patterns of profiteering in the multi-billion dollar federal highway program.

They intend to concentrate on Massachusetts in this round—the home state of the President.

They are interested in practices followed in right-of-way acquisition.

They'll try to show a pattern under which land purchased for federal highways has cost about $1,000 a parcel more than it should have.

730,000 Parcels

With 730,000 parcels necessary to complete the program across the nation, the kinds of profits possible become apparent.

Meanwhile, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), the grand old man of congressional investigating — and still an expert—will be at work.

He'll be driving to get a law on the books to follow up on his investigation of drug pricing.

He wants to increase the powers of the Food and Drug Administration to keep the price of drugs down.

Kefauver's Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee will also publish a study on concentration of American industry — suggesting that economic power in the nation is becoming more and more centralized.

At the same time the Tenneesee senator will be laying the groundwork for hearings suggesting that a lack of competition in some domestic industries has kept prices so high that American products can't compete abroad.

Katanga Controversy

Another set of hearings destined to attract attention will involve the controversy over Katanga in the Congo.

Michel Streulens, head of the Katanga Information Service, will testify about charges that he tried to "buy" recognition for Katanga.

The flamboyant Sen. Thomas Dodd (D-Conn.) is expected to see to it that State Department officials who have criticized Streulens are called on the congressional carpet to explain.

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee is also expected to take another look at activities of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee and at suspected "re-infiltration" of the movie industry by so-called left-wingers.

This is only a sampling of investigations already in the works in some major committees in congress. More can be expected to develop as committees get back to work.

New Spending Needs New Tax, Nelson States

bill put on my desk unless it provides a specific revenue measure to pay for it."

"I will not be a party to deficit spending or any kind of fiscal manuevering which makes commitments now and postpones the obligation to raise the revenue to a future legislature," Nelson said.

The governor conceded that there remain other bills before lawmakers that should be passed. And he suggested that they act on them immediately and prepare to adjourn in the next few days.

"All other pending legislation can better be taken up a few months from now when the next session (1963) meets," he added.

Nelson concluded that even though the 1961 session has been long "it has also been fruitful."

"Dozens of constructive measures have been adopted," the governor said. "They add up to a record of significant achievement."

The chief executive numbered among such measures the new state commission on the aging, the $5 million student loan program, the $50 million resource development program, and the first basic revision in Wisconsin's tax structure in 50 years.

end's severe snowstorm. Main roads were open but many side roads were blocked.

The State Traffic Patrol reports light snow and snow flurries north of a line from Grantsburg through Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin Rapids and Oshkosh to Sheboygan. String winds have caused drifting in many areas. In the northern part of Ozaukee county, main roads are restricted to one lane and side roads are blocked in some areas

All four legs of the interstate highway system report fair to good winter driving condition with isolated slippery spots caused by drifting.

19 Below

Juneau, with a 19 below zero reading, was the coldest spot in the state up to 6 a.m. Other temperatures, all below zero, included: Medford 12, Madison 14, Janesville 11, Grantsburg 12, Stevens Point and Lancaster 10, Wakesha and Sheboygan 8, Milwaukee 6 and Green Bay 2.

The snow storm which hit southern and eastern Wisconsin during the weekend has claimed its 17th victim—Peters Eggers, 71, of Milwaukee who died after shoveling in front of his home.

Fourteen of the deaths were attributed to the strain of shoveling, the other three to auto crashes on slippery roads.

Elsewhere, 5 inches of new snow was on the ground at Buffalo, N.Y., and Muskegon, Mich., had a new 3-inch fall.

Generally fair weather prevailed in the Far West, with temperatures in the 40s and 50s. In the South, temperatures ranged from around the freezing mark to the 60s.

In the Midwest, dry cold readings were the rule. The mercury slid down to zero in Illinois, Kansas and Missouri, and below zero in Minnesota.

More Snow

The storm which blanketed the two mountain states with 12 inches or more of snow Monday moved eastward into Kansas and Oklahoma.

Up to 6 inches of snow was expected in the Oklahoma Panhandle. Roads in northwest Oklahoma were icing. Snow in the Oklahoma City area was pushed around by winds of 28 to 35 miles an hour.

The storm, second in a week, pushed as far south as Amarillo, Tex. Blizzard conditions struck Monday night in the Texas Panhandle. At Amarillo the temperature droped to 20 from a daytime high of 40.

More than a half foot of snow fell in western Kansas. Tribune reported 7 inches, Garden City 6 and Dodge City 3.

Some of the coldest air of the season swept across the northeast plains of New Mexico westward to the Continental Divide.

In Wyoming, the mercury fell to 24 below zero at Casper and Laramie and to 15 below at Cheyenne. At Butte, Mont., it was -32. Temperatures hit subzero recordings in Colorado.

Bus and airline schedules were disrupted in Colorado and Wyoming as snow covered all major highways.

Two deaths were attributed to the storm in Denver, both resulting from heart attacks induced by over-exertion in trying to cope with the city's 13-½inch snowfall.

Snow slides blocked two mountain passes, Loveland west of Denver and Monarch in south central Colorado. Monarch has been cleared. Other major highways were snow packed, icy and dangerous, even with chains.

Hundreds of schools were shut in Colorado. Many stores in downtown Denver closed early Monday.

Martin Marietta Corp. notified its night shift not to report for work at the huge plant southwest of Denver where the Titan missile is manufactured. Denver Tramway officials said it was impossible to maintain regular bus schedules.

In contrast to the arctic blasts which swept the mountain and plains states, San Francisco with 79 and Oakland, Calif., with 75 chalked up record highs for January Monday. The old San Francisco record was 78 in 1899. The Oakland record for January was 73 in 1948.

Winds forecast for today threatened to intensify fire hazards in the San Francisco Bay area. Four brush and timber fires are burning about 60 miles south of the city.

Kennedy, Party Chiefs Discuss Legislation

Wednesday will be affected by international developments.

"If the world situation becomes more intense, it will tend to strengthen the President's hand," Dirksen said.

Others who sat in on both meetings reported that the administration feels it is holding its own in the never-slackening battle with world communism.

But as an indication of the conflict that may lie ahead on issues with domestic and foreign impact, Rusk was reported to have run into sharp questioning from Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee. This centered on Kennedy's forthcoming request for authority to buy $100 million in United Nations bonds.

Problem for U.N.

Byrd was said to have contended that the floating of the bonds, to be paid off out of U.N. general funds, would force France and Belgium to contribute to the costs of Congo operations—which they and the Soviet Union have declined to do—or to take the alternative of getting out of the United Nations.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a Foreign Relations committeeman, forecast a row over the bond request. Several senators have attacked the United Nations' use of force in efforts to bring secessionist Katanga back into the central Congo government.

Aiken, who did not join in such criticisms, called the proposed bond purchase a device to "have this country pick up Russia's tab" for the Congo operations toward which the Soviets have refused any contribution.

Kennedy's domestic proposals are expected to be wrapped up in a $92 billion-plus budget the President has promised will be balanced unless there are emergency increases in defense outlays.

Congressional sources said it was understood the defense budget of about $52 billion would include $1.2 billion for foreign military aid.

Republican leaders have joined Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, in advance promises to cut non-defense spending.

Dirksen said that no one now can forecast what Congress will do about Kennedy's forthcoming request for broad authority to negotiate tariff adjustments in dealing with the European Common Market.

Dirksen indicated he goes along with Republican National Chairman William E. Miller, who said after a House Republican leadership meeting there will be no party policy on the trade program.

The Illinois senator said he believes Republicans of both houses generally will oppose Kennedy's expected request for action on a program of medical care for the elderly, financed by Social Security.

GOP Policy Group Race

In the only Senate leadership contest of the new session, Republicans will select a successor Wednesday to the late Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire as chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, who now heads the conference of all GOP senators and is a candidate for the policy chairmanship, said he thinks he has a good chance of getting the job.

Saltonstall is regarded as less conservative than his opponent, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa. Hickenlooper's supporters predicted he will win the chairmanship by a margin of four or five votes.

livered more legislative messages than any of his predecessors.

Charge Stand Changed

Such maneuvers on his part are purely political in motivation they claimed, since he had earlier said the legislature could regard its job as concluded with the enactment of the compromise tax revision bill in December.

One Republican leader said privately that another reason for keeping the legislature in position to return to work on its own initiative was to prevent political manipulation of the new tax revision law, and especially the new selective sales tax. That law gives the state tax department, now under the command of Democratic Commissioner John Gronouski, broad powers of interpretation with respect to its coverage.

Under the GOP resolution, the two houses could be summoned at any time upon 10 days notice by order of Speaker Blanchard of the assembly and Sen. Frank Panzer, president of the senate.

Propaganda Alleged

Blanchard in a brief but spirited floor debate last night acknowledged the political fears of the majority legislative party.

He said that Nelson has "repeatedly come to the rostrum here to get a rehearing on matters upon which he has been defeated time after time," an apparent reference to the bank tax issue.

"He doesn't want us to go home, because he can come here and keep talking and keep the propaganda mill grinding," he said.

Blanchard said he and the Republicans are confident that public opinion backs a cessation of legislative deliberations now, with a near-record duration of the legislative term already recorded.

Life Is Short, Full of Illness For Average African Native

Before White Men Came, 35 Years Was Age Expectancy

BY SMITH HEMPSTONE
Chicago Daily News Service

NAIROBI, Kenya — Africa is a continent of sick people.

Most Africans are physically small men. With the exception of the Hilo-Hamitic and Hamitic tribes of East Africa, whose members often tower seven feet or more, 5 foot 7 is good size for an African.

The average weight is probably about 140 pounds. Few Africans, except those whose affluence enables them to eat European food, are fat.

Consequently, it is almost a status symbol among Africans to be fat. In pre-colonial days, the chiefs of some tribes force-fed their wives with milk until they became too fat to walk.

Short Lives

But life for the average small, underweight African is full of sickness and short in duration. There are no African actuarial tables for the simple reason that 99 per cent of all Africans have never heard of an insurance policy, much less owned one.

It is believed that before the white man came, the life expectancy of the average African was probably about 35 years. The introduction of Western medicine, it is believed, has extended this by more than 10 years.

The African's battle against death begins the minute he is born.

Although all African governments, independent or colonial provide for their people health services which are free or virtually so, the great majority of African children even today are born in their mother's hut.

There just aren't enough hospital beds to go around. In addition, the labor, even of expectant mothers, is required in the fields.

Tribal Taboos

Tribal taboos (African women are far more primitive and conservative than the men in such matters) also play a part in the reluctance of African women to give birth in a hospital, even if room were available.

Consequently, most African children are delivered by the mother herself, aided by female relatives or a tribal midwife under conditions far from sanitary. Many umbilical hernias result.

Baby food and sterile cow's milk are, of course, things beyond either the ken or the financial reach of most African mothers. Most babies are breast-fed until they are as much as 2 years old.

If the mother's milk dries up, the baby is fed on a mixture of water and corn meal.

As a result of these feeding habits, of general filth and of inadequate clothing it is unlikely that the infant mortality rate for the continent is less than 25 per cent of all live births.

Other Hazards

If an African child survives his first two years, his chances of reaching adulthood increase sharply. But there are many hazards still to be passed.

Malaria, pneumonia and tuberculosis are great killers. Malaria is endemic to much of Africa (except for the dry highlands) and, although generations of infection have given Africans a limited immunity, many are killed by the disease.

Malaria suppressants and mosquito nets are beyond the means of most Africans. State, rural and municipal councils do their best to spray malaria breeding areas but, again, finance prevents the eradication of the sickness.

Africa, contrary to popular belief, is not always hot. In most areas the climate in characterized by sharp rises and drops in temperature, particularly between daylight and night.

Most Africans are inadequately clothed and own few blankets Consequently, already weakened by other diseases, many Africans die of pneumonia or tuberculosis.

Fires at Night

Fires are kept burning in African huts all night in an effort to keep out the cold Many an African child has died or been disfigured for life after rolling onto one of these in his sleep.

Almost all Africans in rural areas go barefoot and consequently suffer from hook worms and other parasites of that type.

Intestinal diseases are widespread. So are eye diseases. This is not to say that the African in a dirty person. He is not. But in much of Africa, water is in short supply. Piped water is a rarity. When water is carried a mile or two from a stream, one thinks twice before washing.

Sewage systems and plumbing are almost unknown except in the larger cities. Filth, therefore, is difficult to combat.

Because the African diet is mostly starches and dangerously short of vitamins, proteins and fats, Africans have little resistance to disease.

Strong Physiques

They have magnificent physiques as the result of years of heavy work. But they drop like flies from diseases which most Americans would shrug off in a week.

It was thought for many years that Africans did not suffer from mental illness, cancer and ulcers, diseases associated with Western, high - pressure living. Recent studies, however, indicate that Africans are nearly as prone to these as white men.

Nowadays, in contrast to the situation half a century ago, there is little African resistance to Western medicine. Most Africans now have an almost pathetic belief in the hypodermic needle and the pill.

The larger the pill or the more wicked-looking the needle, the more the African is prepared to accept its efficacy. Many Africans believe Western medicine to be a form of magic which any white man can perform.

White Magic

Consequently, any white man traveling in the bush is likely to be called upon to cure anything from a broken arm to syphilis (venereal disease also appears to be widespread.)

But while most Africans accept the fact that Western medicine is effective, they also still rely on witch doctors Many Africans are brought to hospitals only after witch doctors have made them even sicker than they were before.

In short, no great economic progress will be possible in Africa until the health of its 234 million people is drastically improved.

This will be a long and expensive process. Ill health has no quick and easy solution.

Child's Soul Chief Parental Responsibility

Rev. Kindem Says Children's Faith Shaped by Parents

"You should have a supreme passion for your children's souls, that they have a right relationship with God," the Rev. I. B. Kindem told his congregation at Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday.

Rev. Kindem

Discussing parental responsibility, he first asked members of the congregation to remember their own childhood and its happy or painful memories.

"Whatever your memories of your childhood were like, you realize today that the influence of your home and of your parents has been great upon your life today," he said. "If you had an unhappy childhood, you can be sure that it has left its mark upon you in the form of a sense of inferiority, a paralysis of social insecurity, or perhaps a total lack of real interest in the Christian faith.

"If yours was a happy childhood, you are gifted with a confidence toward others, an inner peace and a natural optimism which is of help and encouragement to those about you; and you probably have a faith in the Lord Jesus Christ which is sincere and mature through this experience."

Help or Hindrance

We could not choose our parents; they were given to us, he pointed out. "They were either a help or a hindrance to us, in mature life, depending upon how well and in what way they met their parental responsibilities."

"But you and I, as parents today, did choose, voluntarily, our wife or husband," the Rev. Mr. Kindem continued. "We did bring about the children that grace our home today. They are in the same position as we were decades ago and the burden of parental responsibility lies with us as to what influence their childhood experience will have upon their adult lives."

"You and I determine whether or not theirs will be a happy or an unhappy childhood," he went on, "and this mark will be just as deep and profound upon them —for good or evil—as it has been in our own lives. Here, then, lies your parental responsibility."

Compelling Truth

"Your parental responsibility is to realize the compelling truth contained in Jesus' words, 'Did you not know that I must be in my Father's house?' " he said. "These children are not yours alone. They are children of God as well. Ultimately, God has given them life, not you alone.

"They belong to God; they have been redeemed by Christ and you should have a supreme passion for their souls—that they have a right relationship with God. This can best be insured by your own faith and fellowship with God regularly expressed. The Holy Spirit uses your faith and religious example in creating faith in your children."

"Your parental responsibility is most completely fulfilled when parent and child alike express these words of Jesus," he said. "This is the most important thing we can give our children, and the responsibility lies with us as to whether or not they get it."

"As Christian parents," the Rev. Mr. Kindem concluded, "God has given us loved ones dependent in every way upon us and our example. Let us not fail them and God, but let us have a yearning passion for their souls."

Bootleggers Seemed To Have Concern for Future 'Cold War'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Prohibition era distillers didn't know it but they were doing residents of this atomic age a favor when they secretly constructed two underground rooms behind an old house.

When the house was torn down to make way for an apartment building recently, the two reinforced concrete rooms, still equipped with water pipes, electric wiring and 50-gallon metal drums, were discovered.

William Eschenburg, who is building the 16-family apartment house, said he will use the rooms as fallout shelters for his tenants.

College Economists Turn To Art During Spare Time

NEW YORK (AP) — College economists, dealing with the hard facts of monetary life, must relax too. Some of them go about it through art mediums — such as painting, wire and wood sculpting, and drawing.

An exhibition, in which a dozen economists are taking part, opened last week at the Commodore Hotel, presented by the American Economic Association.

Makes Mobiles

Prof. Abba P Lerner of Michigan State University, in his spare time works in aluminum wire mobiles and other wire and tube sculptures

One of his most enthusiastic fans is his wife, Daliah, who noted: "What you see (in the sculptures) is not even half of it. You must see the fantastic shadows the shapes create."

Another exhibitor is Prof. Wiliem J. Baumol, chairman of economic study at Princeton University. He specializes in free-form sculptures from wood blocks "as I whittled with a knife when a boy."

Baumol's economics' colleagues regard him as a "ringer," since he has studied for years at the Arts Student League here. Baumol also is showing some of his paintings.

Wood Carver

Prof. Harry G. Johnson of the University of Chicago is a "whittler" who turns out wood caricatures.

One of Johnson's efforts is an ant-eater with its snout high in the air. He named it "Eager Student."

Johnson is a follower of the late Lord Keynes, monetary policy theorist. And Johnson has done one caricature which he identifies with a paper he delivered on "Keynisian-ism 25 Years After."

The professor names no individual as the subject of the carving —which shows a man with big ears and a hole in his head.

Scientists Think They Can Reverse Atomic Effects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Research in human genetics has advanced to the point where scientists believe they can someday reverse ill effects of atomic radiation on the human body.

An article in Medicine at Work, publication of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, said one of the major studies underway is to reverse the increasing incidence of birth abnormalities blamed by some on mutations from radioactive fallout.

Dr. H. Bentley Glass, professor of biology at Johns Hopkins University, pointed out in the article that biologists are learning how to modify the outcome of heredity. One day, he predicts, they may learn to control mutation by correcting defective genes.

Dr. Herman J Muller, Indiana professor of zoology and Nobel Prize winner, foresees the time when human sperm "banks" might make it possible for parents to select the characteristics they would like to see in their children. Germ cells stored in deep-frozen condition below ground could serve as one step toward survival of future generations undamaged by radiation, Dr. Muller said.

6 Conservatory Students to Give Recital Friday

Six Lawrence Conservatory students will be presented in a Friday afternoon recital in Harper Hall. The 3:30 p. m. concert is open to the public.

With two other major musical events imminent, the Opera Workshop's Strauss operetta "Die Fledermaus," and the Lawrence Band's annual concert, the program of varied chamber music these students have prepared rounds out the rich musical week

Besides vocal and instrumental works of a more standard sort, selections by two less-known composers are listed. A violin sonata by Senaille, 17th century contemporary of Bach and Handel, and a set of impromptus by the living French composer, Francis Poulenc, are programmed.

The program follows:

O Lord, Rebuke me not — Henry Purcell
Mary Heller, soprano

Sonata, Op. 5, No. 1 — Beethoven
Adagio sostenuto—Allegro
Jeffrey Smith, violoncello
Nancy Bodenstein, piano

Sonata II — Handel
Larghetto
Allegro
Adagio
Allegro
Ruth Dahlke, oboe

Sonata in G major — Senaille
Adagio
Corrente
Sarabande
Allegro
Elizabeth Zethmayr, violin

Five Impromptus — Francis Poulenc
Tres agile
Allegro vivace
Tres modere
Violent
Andante
Phyllis Kercher, piano

Blue, Every Shade of It, Number One Color for Feminine, Pretty Spring, 1962

BY PEG ZWECKER
Chicago Daily News Service

NEW YORK — Come spring the smart girl will turn her sweetest side out now that femininity has made a comback. Being pretty is her aim. She prefers it to being dashing.

Blue is the number one color — every shade of it — but turquoise is at the top of the palette. Whenever prettiness is the primary point of view, a woman turns to blue, the universal flatterer.

Fashion's in a fit and all fluttery with softened silhouettes and curves. American designers, after five years of simple clothes, have turned the tables and made this kind of stark fashion demode.

What a season it's going to be.

White Easter

Designers are playing it cool. There's a great trend toward a white Easter, that's where they're singing the blues again. Turquoise looks right with white whether it makes headlines as a hat, or a lining of a coat or suit. Newest looking shoes are white patent.

Adolfo of Emme shows a new helmet in frothy white organdy and an airy beret of turquoise chiffon that reverses to a romantic flower wig of turquoise and white.

New Femininity

In Guy Douvier's collection for Christian Dior, his mood is not saccharine sweet, but most flattering. He pays great tribute to the new femininity with a lift to the waistline, fluttery capes that float off the back of printed blue or orange chiffon gowns, short flounced evening dresses and ruffles rounding necklines on double crepe tunic dresses, daffodil yellow is one of his favorite colors.

This year's Coty Award winner — Bill Blass of Maurice Rentner, opened his show with a group of blue costumes and underscored the soft fluid line with his "coquille" bolero or dresses, shell-shaped and fanning upward from the waistline to look like a softy draped sleeve.

Show Stopper

A show stopper is his bare arm dress of soft brown silk chiffon made entirely of symmetrical rows of bias-cut ruffles cascading down from shoulder to slanting jagged hemline which shows all of one knee on the short side. He shows a neckline plunging to the waist.

Adele Simpson takes a young approach with spring fashions that adjust to travel and weather anywhere without a qualm.

"Knee free" skirts flare with all around pleats in her riding jacket suits, wrist length or shorter that caress the body lightly but tellingly in a lifted line. She launches the sixes, the wanted sixes, shaped, and proportioned to a misses' size 6, whether she is a miss, mother or grandmother.

Floating and fluttering with every breeze, Gother's covered-up concept made an impact in a gown of claret red chiffon with three-tiered ruffled skirt, tight sleeves and velvet - ribboned waistline marker. His colors are a springtime garden of flowers and one of the prettiest floor length gowns for a red head was in apricot chiffon with citron embroidered bodice and a long, floaty stole.

Oriental Idea

A turquoise reefer with new princess shape moving closer to the body in boucle wool and a group of white coats in feathery brushed souffle, whipcord, textured boucle and silk worsted were outstanding at the House of Carmel.

New-looking is the obi silhouette by Monte-Sano, with wide fabric, suede or kidskin belts swathing the waistline under the bosom where they tie, belt, or knot. The Oriental idea carries over to sleeves that drop to the elbow and skirt panels. Airy are his crocheted weaves from England and Italy, his cobwebby woolens from France and his lacey one from Scotland.

AP Wirephotos

A White Wool Coat almost as light in weight as linen was introduced by George Carmel as a perfect cover-up for spring. The high-waisted narrow-shouldered coat with tiny collar and swingy skirt is a part of the New York's Couture Group's spring and summer collection. At left, a red silk paisley print with three-quarter length sleeves and a wide V-neck clings to produce the curvy "she mood." The dress is by designer Adele Simpson.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

TIFF OVER GIFT

I was asked to be godmother at a baby's christening last November. At the time I gave a bond for the infant. A few days later when the mother and I were conversing, I remarked that I was wondering what to give the baby for Christmas. The mother said, "Surely you won't dare walk into my house without remembering the other five children." The more I thought about this, the more infuriated I became. I finally decided to mail a little gift for the baby. Was I obligated to hand out gifts for the other five? My husband and I are godparents to seven other children. We don't have that kind of money to purchase gifts for all their brothers and sisters. At this point, the count is 33! Unknown to the families involved, we have been having financial reverses and have a daughter whom we hope to send to college in two more years if we can possibly manage.

Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

Even if you were a trillionaire, you have no obligation to get gifts for 35 children, simply because you and/or your husband are godparents to 8 in their families.

BRIDE'S HEADDRESS

Louise Davis Answers:

No. Her ensemble should be intact. Even if she dances, her train and veil are held over the left arm.

Home Sewing Hint

Hint to home sewers: to avoid later puckers, some quality interfacings and interlinings should be pre-shrunk by laundering before being teamed with washable fabrics.

Aloha Party Food Topic of Program

Miss Louise Fellows, home service representative for the Wisconsin Natural Gas Company, gave a demonstration of an Aloha party with food prepared in a Hawaiian manner at a meeting of the Kaukauna Evening Homemakers Club.

Program chairman was Mrs. Julian Buehler. Members were reminded to bring old magazines for donation to organizations. Miss Lorraine Dudley, Miss Mabel Learman and Miss Myra Hill will tell about their trip to Hawaii and show slides at the Feb. 1 meeting. Program chairman will be Mrs. Gerald Smits and social chairman is Mrs. Donald Mongold.

Miss Barbara Trachte, sponsored by the rehabilitation division of the Wisconsin Vocational and Adult School, told of her work with homebound individuals; the items they make which help them become partially self-supporting, and how these items are sold. She also demonstrated the quality of the items at a meeting of the Afternoon Homemakers Club.

Program chairman was Mrs. Henry Vanevenhoven. Miss Maud Hoos and Mrs. Milton Schmidt were co-chairmen of the social committee. The Rev. Raymond Wallenhorst, Potter, will discuss holidays at the Feb. 2 meeting. Mrs. Jerome Van Dinter will be program chairman and Mrs. Bruno Kraft and Roy Mahn, social chairman.

Furniture Designs Here to Stay Awhile, Settle Down

BY PAT DALTON
Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO — Furniture manufacturers showing new collections at the International Home Furnishings Market here which opened this week are displaying tendencies to stick with the winners introduced last June.

The main furniture style directions then pointed to provincial (both Early American and French), Italian classic and modern.

Buyers, who will be swarming over approximately 50 acres of furniture at the Merchandise Mart, the American Furniture Mart and the Exhibitors' Building, will find a settling-down, here-to-stay quality rather than a revolution in design and construction.

While buying furniture with which to entice you into their stores next spring, they will see what seems to be a turning toward a more relaxed, natural look in interior decoration.

As one decorator put it: "The undecorated effect is what we are trying for—things should look as though they just happened to get together."

The French accent is strong. Mrs. John Kennedy's love of classical French design seems to have increased interest in the gracious formality of the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries. But it is French provincial, rather than adptations of more regal styles, that is in the spotlight.

Small Twists

Although the year of the "Twist" has brought only small twists to furniture design, here are some of the significant patterns:

—Upholstered pieces have softer profiles, more elegant fabrics and many dressmaker details.

—The trend toward mixing periods of furniture in a room is increasing, largely built into new offerings, leaving less margin for error by the amateur decorator.

—Handwork is important. More and more painted woods are being shown, some decorated in the manner of European folk art. Fabrics are decorated with applique embroidery and trapunto stitching.

—What used to be thought of as outdoor furniture has come indoors. Handsome metal finishes, superb styling, foam rubber cushioning and brilliant silk-textured upholstery fabrics contribute to the "drawing room" appeal of what was once known as casual furniture design.

Chain Lamps Favored

—Lamps hanging on a chain from the ceiling are making a big bid for attention, while many table lamps are taking a no-style category approach so they can blend more readily with any surroundings.

—Folding screens are coming back

—New, unusual woods like turrea and holly, along with teak, rosewood and other decorative woods, are enlivening the scene still dominated by walnut, cherry, maple and oak.

Survival Shelter Bunks

Although a full-size steel survival shelter has been built on an upper floor of Chicago's American Furniture Mart to show these new high-rise bunks, they bring to mind many more and happier demands for emergency sleeping. How handy they'd be to bed down (or bed up) the overflow of children at family reunions, what a problem solver for the harried hosts of teen-age sleeping parties or too-popular vacation cottages.

Three, four or even five layers of sleepers can be accomodated in just enough floor space for one, and the sturdy steel frames assemble and dissemble in no time. They fold and store in a box only three inches deep and just an inch longer and wider than their 75 by 27-inch dimensions. Very comfortable mattresses are of 2-inch thick foam. As the sketch shows, a sofa - like seat is formed when the second level frame drops down at an angel to become a back for the first.

Bad Hand May be Amusing

Opening lead — ♣ 2

When this hand came along in the national tournament in Houston a few weeks ago, the experts who held the North-South cards had a field day. North always started a campaign to swindle West out of his vulnerable slam.

In some cases, North jumped right to six diamonds. When this was enough to buy the hand, South gave up only 300 points to take the slam away from West. Even if West refused to sell out, South was willing to go on to seven diamonds. A penalty of 500 points was still a good bargain.

Outlandish Bids

In a few cases North dreamed up more outlandish bids. One player jumped to three notrump with the North cards and found himself playing the hand undoubled. He didn't win a single trick, but that cost only 450 points. If he had been doubled he would have run to diamonds.

One North player jumped to four no trump, as though interested in a slam. South showed one ace by bidding five diamonds, and North passed with a perfectly straight face. The opponents fell for this, and South got away with a loss of only 50 points.

It was good clean fun, and nobody complained North wouldn't have been quite so happy with his cards at rubber bridge. He would still try for a cheap sacrifice, but he wouldn't send out for champagne and dancing girls at the prospect of losing 500 points.

There's probably a moral in this. If you find yourself getting irritated by very bad hands, try duplicate bridge. Deuces will give you no pain.

Daily Question

You are not vulnerable, and the opponents are. Partner deals and bids three diamonds. The next player doubles. You hold: S None H Q 9 8 6 5 3 D Q J 7 6 2 C 7 3. What do you say?

Answer: Something vigorous such as seven diamonds! The opponents must be laydown for a slam, and your only chance is to talk them out of it for a small penalty.

Federal Loan To Firm Aids Turkey Industry

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Greater Marshfield, Inc., Marshfield, has been granted a $275,000 loan from the Small Business Administration to assist in building a $350,000 turkey processing plant. This is the largest loan approved by the agency during November, SBA reported today.

The loan, in which two local banks "participated," will build a plant, providing seasonal employment which should reach an estimated annual payroll figure of $313,000, according to a spokesman for the SBA. The plant also will furnish an outlet for the Wisconsin turkey industry, he said.

50th Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew DeLeeuw, 410 E. Kimberly Ave., Kimberly, observed their golden wedding anniversary Saturday. An anniversary mass was celebrated at Holy Name of Jesus Catholic Church. A family dinner was served at the Hub Bar, Kaukauna, and a supper and reception were at Rainbow Gardens.

The couple was married Jan. 9, 1912, at Holy Name of Jesus Catholic Church. Mr. DeLeeuw operated a tavern in Kimberly for 19 years before his retirement.

Mr. and Mrs. DeLeeuw have 10 children: John, Joseph, Mrs. Earl Deeg, Mrs. Orville Hoppe, Mrs. Robert Anholzer and Mrs. James Vandehey, Kimberly; Chris and Mrs. Robert Willis, Appleton; Andrew Jr., Menasha, and Mrs. Robert Hopfensperger, Mt. Carroll, Ill. They also have 28 grandchildren.

Think Twice on Letting Teen-Agers Use Accounts

You may feel that you help your youngsters to manage their money by giving them allowances and guiding them in spending it. But perhaps your set of guiding principles will be upset when your teen-agers are granted credit cards or charge accounts.

With teen-age charge accounts and revolving accounts becoming so easily available you may have to either keep your youngster from using them or reinforce their knowledge of credit and charge buying.

Arguments for teen-age charge and revolving accounts are that they serve as a valuable lesson in modern living, that a youngster can gain experience in managing a budget, or that he will learn self-discipline in managing his money and be better able to manage bigger credit problems.

You might ask, though, if teaching youngsters to use costly credit is sound money management. Revolving accounts that require a service charge on an unpaid balance usually aren't wise for any family spending.

Some feel that the temptation to spend is too great when the teenager has an account. Pressure from friends to buy on impulse is usually frequent. Some think that teen-agers have enough problems without assuming the extra burden of money problems.

There is no simple answer but credit cards and charge accounts where no interest is paid might be given a trial run. It's easy to withdraw this account if it's abused. Some upper limit might be put on the account — a limit to fit your family budget, not what the store is willing to have the teen-ager charge.

Try to impress on the teen-ager that he is establishing a credit rating so prompt payment of his account is important. Help him to continue to plan for his purchasing rather than buying because it doesn't take money right at the moment. Point out the true costs of revolving accounts that charge you for the privilege of buying.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue. Some mothers apply this charming wedding custom to baby's layette. Nice sentiment for a new baby.

Post-natal pointers. Watching your diet is just as important after the baby comes as it is before. You need all the nutrients your doctor recommended to regain your strength and keep you fit. Word to the wise: crash diets are no more sensible than over-eating.

Watching baby's diet is one of your doctor's (and your) primary concerns. When he gives you the go-ahead on cereal, you'll want to try Gerber Cereal Quads — the variety package containing small-size boxes of Rice Cereal, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal and High Protein Cereal. Each one has a bland but distinctive flavor — all four have a smooth-to-the-tongue, easy-to-swallow texture. Most important, they're enriched with blood-building iron, important B-vitamins and bone-building calcium.

Night-feedings simplified. You can take the grope and fumble out of night feedings if you lay out robe, slippers, diaper, etc., in advance. Luminous paint on hall and kitchen light switches will save many a stumble in the dark.

Vitamin viewpoint. Baby's vitamin drops are best given by dropper. If you put them in his formula and he doesn't finish it, precious drops will be wasted.

Another vitamin viewpoint. Vitamin C, so important for sound gums and body tissues, is usually recommended early in the new baby's diet. Gerber Strained Orange Juice is an excellent source of vitamin C. Made of tree-ripened fruit, specially selected for mildness, it's ever so delicate—the way it should be for a new baby. ## Our Children
Child's Performance Hinges on Details

BY ANGELO PATRI

A hopeful situation can be spoiled for a child by a small detail of service or behavior on the part of an adult. This is unavoidable sometimes because the conditions are set and the unknowing adult goes ahead with his duty only to discover the child has failed to respond as expected.

A first grade class was tested in reading. The tester was a trained person, a stranger to the children, supposed to know just what to do and when and why and one who was highly successful. This day she wore a medallion on a long chain around her neck and as she moved it swung to and fro catching the light and reflecting it in sparkles.

Florrie, almost 6, was entranced by this moving, sparkling ornament so that when called on she was lost. When time was called her paper was almost blank. She had failed in her reading test but actually she was one of the best in the class.

After test time the class teacher explained what had happened.

"She fixed her eyes on your medallion, couldn't take her mind off it."

"Oh, dear, I forgot I had it on. We'll take your rating for her."

Jimmie, 2, usually ate his breakfast without any trouble when his mother served it but this morning she had been called away for an hour or so and hastily gave Grandma directions for feeding him. Jimmie first looked expectant, then bewildered, then began to cry and when his grandmother tried to coax and comfort him into eating he kicked and howled worse than ever. No breakfast.

"I'm so sorry, I should have told you. He gets his cereal out of this bowl with the yellow chickens on it and before I hand him his spoon I feed him the first mouthful, hand him the spoon and leave a kiss on the top of his head and he goes along just fine."

"Oh, me," groaned Grandma. "I didn't know the ritual." Children do follow ritual, the familiar thing gives them a feeling of sureness and safety. Any unexplained change is likely to distress them. The younger the child the more this is in effect. There are reasons for having children in school tested by the experts, strangers to them, and that in turn can afford a reason for asking to have the children tested three times rather than once. And for accepting the teacher's judgment as a factor in the final judgment of any test.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Every time I take my parakeet in the car he gets car sick. What can I do? E. Hammond, Jr., Santa Barbara, Cal.

A. Usually birds travel very well. To the best of my knowledge there is little evidence that they have ever been affected by motion sickness. After all, they usually swing on moving branches without any effect. Probably your bird is getting sick from fumes inside the car. It is important to remember that birds are particularly susceptible to all fumes. Since your parakeet is also susceptible to drafts, it is not possible to properly ventilate the car to remove gasses and in city traffic these fumes are all around us. Frankly, unless it is absolutely necessary to take him, I think your parakeet is better off at home or boarded at a bird hospital or pet store.

Your Problems

Writer Says If Women Wed For Money, Men May Also

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why is it that in our society when a woman marries for money nobody thinks anything of it? They call her "practical" and congratulate her for making a solid selection. When a man does the same thing he is "a fortune hunter and a louse.

Landers

I'm an attractive bachelor with much to offer a woman. In fact I have everything but money. I say no marriage needs two rich people. It always seems such a waste when a Ford marries a Du Pont.

In the past ten years I've taken out hundreds of women — from 16 to 60. They all end up fishing for a financial statement. The women with money were quick to let me know that "everything is tied up in trust."

If it's respectable for a woman to marry for loot instead of love why can't a man? — Also Practical

Dear Also: Your assumption that women who marry for money get society's approval is cockeyed. You further assume that every marriage is based on either love or loot. This is also an absurdity.

People who marry strictly for money (male or female) should get the top price because they earn every dime of it, Brother. It's the hardest work there is.

DEAR ANN: What can I do about a husband like this? We both work and I get home at 5 p. m. He could get home at 5:30 with a little effort but he rarely makes it before 6.

Every night after supper he heads for the tavern and stays there till about 11. He tells everybody he does this because "his wife is never home." This is a lie. I only go to Navy Mother's Club, a private bingo party once a week, bowling league and to my mother's house. The reason I go out at night is because he's never home.

We've been married for 33 years and get along pretty well except for this problem. Can you suggest help? — Cass

Dear Cass: You say you go because your husband is never home. He claims he goes because you're always gone. Why don't you both agree to stay home and get acquainted?

Since you're the one with the organized activities it's up to you to drop at least some of them and show your husband that he means more to you than bingo — or even your mother.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Seat belts are not yet compulsory in our state but I suspect it won't be long before they are. This poses a problem.

If a man and wife have a lady guest in the front seat the answer is obvious. The guest gets in next to the husband and the man and his wife use the seat belts. But if the guest is a gentleman does he sit on the outside with the seat belt and leave the wife in the middle, unprotected?

Sticky, isn't it? — V. H.

Dear V. H.: The gentleman guest should volunteer to sit in the middle unprotected. This means he gets into the car ahead of the woman which of course calls for a word of apology for violating a basic rule of etiquette.

Film on Woodwork Due Varnish

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We have varnished woodwork and doors in our kitchen. There is a cloudy film on the varnish which usual cleaning methods don't remove. Can you suggest anything?

A: Try removing the cloudiness by wiping the varnished surfaces with a mixture of one tablespoon of cider vinegar in a quart of lukewarm water. Use a soft, lintless cloth and rub in the direction of the wood grain: then wipe with a clean, dry cloth. If this doesn't help, the varnish itself is at fault. A more moisture-resistant type should be used.

MILDEW ON CELLAR FLOOR

Q: We had a small rugg on our cellar floor. When we removed it, there were mildew stains on the cement, and we noticed a musty odor. How can the odor and stains be removed?

A: To remove the odor and kill any mold spores, scrub the concrete with a hot solution of trisodium phosphate, using 3 pounds to each gallon of water; then rinse thoroughly with clear water. Apply a strong chlorine bleach to the stains; or rub with a coarse abrasive stone; or wire brush. If floor is painted, use only 2 cups of "tsp" to the gallon. Takes longer, but the stronger solution is also an effective paint remover.

MILDEW OVER HOUSE EXTERIOR

Q: Last May we painted the exterior of our 3-year-old-home. A few weeks later mildew formed on all surfaces where the sun hit. The first time we painted this did not happen and the paint company now admits that the fault lies in their paint. We plan to repaint next spring. Must we do anything to the house first, before we apply the new paint?

A: Yes. Scrub the mildewed surfaces with a stiff brush and a detergent in warm water. Then kill any remaining spores by applying a chlorine bleach solution (1 pint bleach to 1 gallon of water), allowing to remain 4-5 minutes, then rinsing off with clear water. To prevent a recurrence of the mildew suggest using a mildew-resistant paint or adding a mildewcide, available at paint dealers, to the paint according to manufacturer's instructions.

ROUGH LAUNDRY TUBS

Q: Our stationary laundry tubs have become very rough inside. Is there any product one could apply to put a smoother finish on the inside of the tubs?

A: A liquid tile-like finish is available, at many large hou-e-wares and paint dealers, for smooth coating all kinds of surfaces. With continued exposure to water, detergents, etc., this may require periodic renewal.

Golden Hat Presentations Crown Spring Opening

BY PEG ZWECKER
Chicago Daily News Service

NEW YORK — The big explosion of femininity is setting the mood of New York spring collections. And, every designer interprets it in his own manner.

The waistline takes star billing. Some designs give a heightened look — and a young one at the same time in full-skirted suits with short, snug, above the waist jackets.

Others hug waists with pretty sashes or wide belts. With armholes growing smaller and higher, the waistline is brought into focus on semi-fitted coats and dresses.

Headlines were made as the 38th semi - annual national press week of the New York Couture Group opened this noon at the Savoy Hilton.

Golden Hat Awards

The winners are: Anna Maria Alberghetti, theater; Lee Remick, motion pictures; Jayne Meadows, TV; Hildegarde, popular music; Mimi Benzell, classical music; Mrs. Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt, international society, and Katherine Peden, public affairs (she's national president of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of America).

Secret Vote

It's interesting to note how the poll is run. A year - round clipping service compiles pictures and mentions of women wearing hats. The most publicized of the year are submitted to fashion editors all over the country who then select the winners by secret vote.

This was the third annual affair giving awards to celebrities.

Top designers of this fashion capital of America predict it will be a big silk season. A number of important trends were shown at the International Silk Association U.S.A. dinner fashion showing in the ballroom of the Hotel Pierre.

Mix - matching two or more patterns in one costume — a printed blouse with a plaid suit and a dotted lining on a striped coat echoes this important look.

Basic Black Dress

Emphasizing the returning "little black dress," four - ply black silk was paraded in sculptured silhouettes.

Some of the pretties new fashions, which pointed that it would be a big silk print year, were the multicolored patterns stressing the soft and feminine, rather than the bizarre, in motif. Also important are the "resist" prints which look like big stencils of one color or another.

All have been designed to emphasize everything new in the feminine theme — high waistlines, princess dresses, ruffles, flounces, flairs, curves and captivating styles to please the men.

Miss Langlois

Engagement Of Daughter Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Langlois, route 1, New London, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Judith Ann, to Donald Carl Brigham. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brigham, 315 N. Shawano St., New London.

Miss Langlois is a senior at New London Washington High School from where her fiance was graduated. He served three years in the Navy and is now working at Kawell Motors, New London.

A summer wedding is planned.

City of Appleton Machines emerged during a heavy snowfall Saturday night and have been digging the city out ever since. The city's motor pool was divided into two sections today. One operated on Wisconsin Avenue and Richmond Street and the other in the downtown areas. One loader has been working on municipal parking lots for the last two nights and will continue to do so until the lots are clear. One V-plow was busy in the outskirts of the city this morning, clearing the drifts that brisk winds had whipped up.

The Long Arm of the Law lifted snow shovels Monday night. Appleton policemen shoveled snow away from call boxes so that they could make their necessary hourly calls to the station without getting cold feet. The city's meter maids also had trouble Saturday and Monday. They couldn't get to the parking meters. But they didn't have to shovel. City snow removal crews have solved their problem.

The city has several dump sites along the river and uses its full complement of road equipment to get the snow to those sites. Metered parking areas along downtown streets, hard to get into and out of Monday, were cleared Monday night and early this morning. A new parking ordinance that prohibits moving snow from private property onto streets has aided the city's removal efforts the last few days.

Building Costs In Kaukauna Total $936,300

KAUKAUNA — Total estimated cost of all construction in Kaukauna during 1961 was $936,300, including $699,460 in residential building and $236,840 in commercial buildng, according to the annual report released by Lothar Kemp, assistant building inspector.

A total of 36 homes were constructed during the year, estimated cost set at $631,690. Total building costs for 1960 amounted to $1,817,510 which included 56 homes costing $789,700. Residential additions and alterations numbered 49 for 1961 and cost $43,260 in 1961 compared to 63 costing $55,436 in 1960. There were 36 garages costing $24,485 and one shed costing $25 built in 1961 compared to 34 garages costing $22,025 and two sheds costing $200 in 1960.

Ten new commercial buildings costing $216,990 were built in 1961 compared to nine costing $531,750 in 1960. The 1961 buildings included a tavern, dry-cleaning establishment, warehouse, iron removal plant, body shop, filling station, refreshment stand, Knights of Columbus meeting hall and two small dairy addition buildings.

Eleven permits were issued for additions or remodeling to commercial buildings in 1961, total cost set at $19,850 compared to 11 remodelings costing $418,400 during 1960. Remodelings in 1961 included alterations to store entrance, six additions, three new store fronts and rebuilding a basement wall.

The annual report shows a total of 430 permits issued which brought in $874.10 in fees. This included 143 building permits, 19 sewer, 23 excavating, three moving, 14 sign, 18 gas renewal, four gas examiners, 135 gas, three wrecking and 68 plumbing.

City's 'Inner Core' Study Not Limited to Welfare Cases

Disturbed Students' Class Okayed by Education Board

First Group Could Form In September as 'Pilot'

The Appleton public schools will conduct a class for emotionally disturbed children in September, if present plans materialize.

The Board of Education Monday approved a plan to set up a class for emotionally disturbed children and present it to the state for acceptance as a pilot program beginning in September. If the state's bureau of handicapped children accepts the plan it will finance 65 per cent of the cost of special teaching materials and the teacher's salary.

Need Felt

"We feel there is a need in a system this large to take care of problems that exist in this area," Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz told the board while presenting the results of a study of a program for disturbed children.

Miss Rose Wuest, principal of Jefferson School, and Rolland Nock, principal of Morgan School, were appointed last May, to study ways of providing such a program. The need has been felt in Appleton for several years, Kurtz said.

According to present plans, the class would be set up for eight to 12 children of average or above average intelligence in third through fifth grades, and would include their total educational program.

Kurtz estimated that 5 to 10 per cent of the school population are emotionally disturbed, but emphasized that most of these could be taken care of in regular classes through identification and in-service training of teachers. To pull them out of the regular class, "disrupts the class and disrupts the child, and may do more harm than good," he said.

A very small percentage of these children, maybe one half of one per cent, cannot be handled in the regular school situation, he said, and often wind up in institutions where more adequate care is available.

Another small percentage cannot be handled in the regular classroom but could be taken care of in a special class, he said.

Students Identified

Miss Wuest said that the social service department has identified emotionally disturbed children now in the schools ranging in age from six to 17, with 12 in elementary school.

The upper elementary level seems the logical place to start a special class, Kurtz said. "In many cases the emotionally disturbed child becomes our chronic problem on the junior and sen-

Oldest Lawrence Grad Dies at 99 In Edgerton

Funeral services were held today in Edgerton, Wis., for D. W. North, 99, the oldest Lawrence alumnus and the oldest Mason in Wisconsin.

North was born Aug. 10, 1862, near Edgerton and lived there most of his life. He attended Lawrence Academy from 1879 to 1883, and then attended the University of Wisconsin.

Former Editor

He was an editor of a former Madison newspaper, the Madison Democrat, and later was a justice of the peace and real estate man in Edgerton.

He is survived by two daughters, two sons, eight grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

North will be buried in Edgerton. There will be Masonic rites at the grave.

Health Department Plans Comprehensive Research Of City's Older Section

Complaints of poor living conditions in Appleton's "inner core"—the older section of the city's midtown — promise to bring about a "comprehensive" study by the city health department.

The first step in a research program that may result in a minimum health code for city homes is set for Jan. 16 when from 15 to 20 families receiving city welfare assistance will be asked to submit to a voluntary inspection of their living conditions.

"We expect these people to cooperate with us in this study," said Merton Ehricke, director of the city's public assistance, "because most of them are renters and are not actually responsible for many of the poor conditions they live in."

The study will be conducted by city sanitarians and is to be financed by the city health department. Both the Outagamie County Welfare Agency and the city welfare department will lend assistance in the study.

Check Other Homes

After the study of homes housing welfare families, the department will begin an earnest check of other homes in the city's older section.

"If we can't get permission to inspect the insides of homes, we will keep our inspection confined to outside areas. We can check the condition of the construction, minimum sizes for the amount of people in the homes, the yard and garbage conditions," Richard Bishop, head of the city's environmental health division, said.

The study has been requested by Health Commissioner Dr. Marvin Kagen and the plan was outlined at a staff meeting Monday in the commissioner's office. He said a rising number of complaints brought the study.

"We want people to understand

Buchanan Files Papers for School Board

Charles B. Buchanan, a new candidate, has filed nomination papers for election to a board of education post in the April 3 election.

Buchanan

Incumbent 14th Ward Alderman Roylance Pointer and incumbent Sixth Ward Supervisor John R. Schreiter took out nomination papers for re-election.

School board members Earl W. Harder and A. Neil McLeod come up for reelection April 3. Buchanan is trying for one of their jobs. McLeod has taken out nomination papers. Harder has not.

Native of Area

Buchanan, who lives at 229 N. Union St., is assistant to the works manager at Appleton Wire Works. He is a native of the Fox Cities.

Pointer, who lives at 943 E. Frances St., is a wire weaver at Appleton Wire Works. He has served three terms as an alderman.

Schreiter lives at 1008 W. Spencer St. and is a heating contractor. He has completed three terms as supervisor.

Attorney Faces U. S. Tax Charge

CHICAGO (AP)— Jonathan C. Bunge, an attorney with offices in Chicago and La Crosse, Wis., was arrested Monday on a charge of failure to file federal income tax returns for 1955 through 1957.

Bunge was indicted by a U.S. District Court grand jury in Milwaukee on Dec. 19 for failing to report taxable income of $63,952 for the three years.

Bunge appeared before a U.S. commissioner, who released him on his own recognizance bond of $1,000 and set a hearing for Jan. 15 on removal to Milwaukee.

Man Dies, 9 Hurt In Derailment

AURELIA, Iowa (AP)—The six-car Illinois Central Hawkeye Limited, running an hour late, went off the tracks in 14-below zero cold today.

One crew member was killed and at least nine persons were injured.

Rescue operations were hampered by the cold and strong northerly winds whipping snow off the ground.

The dead man was tentatively identified as John Nelson of Sioux City. He was in the mail car, which tipped over.

The Chicago to Sioux City daily train—the last railroad passenger service in northwest Iowa—carried 17 passengers. They were in the last three cars, which left the tracks but did not overturn.

Among the injured were two train crew members.

Effort to Form Commission For Parks Delayed by Board

Supervisors Warned to Make Up Minds; More Talk Next Month

Efforts to establish a Park Planning Commission in Outagamie County were tabled for a month by the board of supervisors today after a professional park consultant warned supervisors they would have to "make up your minds if you want parks or if you don't want them."

The board ordered Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath to prepare copies of the Wisconsin statute which provides for the organization of a park commission.

Copies will be distributed to all board members and the proposal, presumably, will be discussed some more at the February meeting.

But even in its early stages of discussion the winds of discontent surrounding the proposal whistled through the board chambers. One supervisor, Sylvester Esler, said "I'm not in favor of it." He said if the commission were formed it would bring "pressure groups" before the board and "they'll ask for a lot," Esler said.

Supv. Mark Catlin said the resolution calling for the organization and the organization itself would cost the county nothing "Only if the board itself appropriates money to cover such recommendations as the commission might make will it take up public funds," Catlin said.

Too Many Problems

In asking for creation of the commission, the board's Airport and Parks Committee, through Catlin, said the county's park problems were reaching the size and quantity that "we just can't handle them."

(Outagamie County has one park—Plamann—which was given the county about five years ago. Plans have been made for the park, a well drilled, picnic tables installed and a road built into the area. The Grignon home in Kaukauna also is under the county's jurisdiction.)

Supervisors were told the statute provides for the county board chairman to appoint members to the commission who would serve in either a paid or unpaid capacity depending on the wishes of the supervisors.

John Gillespie, professional park consultant, told the supervisors they would have to make up their minds about parks. "If you want to have parks in Outagamie County you will have to spend money to maintain and develop them," he said.

Willing to Serve

Gillespie said already he has the names of seven persons, including himself, who would be willing to serve in an unpaid capacity on a park commission. They are: Mrs. Wayne Carr, Kaukauna; Anthony J. Catana, professor of biology and University of Wisconsin Extension Center and former president of the Brown County Conservation Association; Malcomb Veitch, former board member; Erick L. Madsen Jr., a member of the Appleton Park Commission; Don Smith of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Jack Powers, County Agent.

Hugh Dega, Madison, park consultant for the Wisconsin Conservation Department, told the board his office would be available to provide professional assistance to the commission if one were formed.

Several other supervisors voiced a reluctance to go along with a park commission plan. They, too, pointed to "pressure groups" as their primary fear.

Plans for New Sewage Plant OK'd

Plans and specifications for a new sewage treatment plant, drawn by the consultants, Greeley and Hansen Engineers, Chicago, have been okayed by the federal Health, Education and Welfare Dept.

Federal approval was necessary because the city asked for and received $250,000 in federal funds for the project. The primary treatment facilities will be improved and secondary treatment facilities will be added.

Approval of the plans from the State Board of Health came a few weeks ago.

Kurtz Encourages Teachers Study More, Travel Less

Teachers were encouraged to participate more in summer school activities for credits, and take less time earning credits by travel.

The encouragement came from Superintendent Royce E. Kurtz at a board of education meeting Monday.

Kurtz told the board almost half of the teachers in the Appleton public schools earned professional growth credits between the summer of 1960, and September, 1961.

A total of 166 teachers earned 741 credits through summer school, summer travel and extension course taken during the school year. This represents 44.5 per cent of the teaching staff.

"The number has definitely increased during the last four or five years," Kurtz said. "We have been encouraging the staffs of our schools to become involved in summer school activities and try to cut down the number earning credit only for travel."

In the summer of 1960, 38 teachers earned 202 credits in summer school, and 32 earned 82 credits for travel. In the summer of 1961, 46 teachers earned 226 credits in summer school and 19 earned 38 credits for travel. During the 1960-61 school year, 73 teachers earned 193 credits in extension courses.

Board member Dr. A. Neil McLeod said he would prefer to see it called "academic" growth rather than "professional." "This is common usage," he said, "but it does not necessarily mean they are growing professionally because they take credits. This should be determined by the superintendent."

Home Owners Asked Not to Bury Hydrants

Appleton snow shovelers have been asked not to bury fire hydrants when they clear their sidewalks and driveways.

Squad Car Transports Student After Bus Slides in Ditch

KIMBERLY—Rita Wolff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Wolff, route 4, Appleton, didn't miss school today even though the school bus she was riding was stuck in a ditch on County Trunk KK early this morning.

Miss Wolff, a freshman at Kimberly High School, who has only missed two days of school since September, arrived in time for most of her classes in a squad car.

Miss Wolff and Mary Van Hendle, route 4, Appleton, were the only passengers in the school bus driven by Robert Van Heeswyk, 413 S. Washington St., Kimberly, when the bus went into the ditch at 7:15 a.m. No one was injured in the accident.

Taken to School

Miss Wolff was taken on to school by Calvin Spice, county patrolman, who investigated the accident. Miss Van Hendle was taken to her home. The bus was pulled from the ditch at 10:15 a.m. by a snowplow from the Town of Harrison.

Ordinarily the bus carries between 30 and 35 students, but because of snow and subzero temperatures, most of the students were not waiting at the stops when Van Heeswyk came by. The accident occurred after Van Heeswyk made his fourth stop.

Building on Ramp Site To be Razed

Westgate Wrecking Co. Inc., Appleton, has taken out a building permit for razing of a city-owned home at 215 N. Morrison St.

The home lies on parts of two city lots bounded by Franklin, Morrison and Washington streets that are the proposed site of a 405-car, $630,000 sloping floor parking ramp.

Jan. 15 Show

Name Guest Soloist For OSC Band Concert

OSHKOSH — The annual winter concert of Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh, symphonic band will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday, Jan. 15, with Butler Eitel, euphonium soloist and guest conductor.

Eitel, conductor of Edina Morningside High School band in Minneapolis of Rose Bowl and concert fame, formerly was assistant conductor of the USAF band and orchestra of Washington, D.C.

Admission to the concert, which is being directed by Willis Buettner of the college music department, will be free to all students of any schools with a nominal fee for non-students and adults. The concert will be given in the campus Little Theater.

The program will include "The Fairest of the Fair March" by John Philip Sousa; "Royal Fireworks Music" by Handel - Sartorius; "Allegro Spiritoso" by Senaille - McLeod; and "Italian in Algiers Overture" by G. Rossini - Cailliet. The last two selections will have Eitel as euphonium soloist and guest conductor.

He also will appear as soloist in "Andante et Allegro" and "Fantaisie Original," both appearing on the program after intermission. Some 73 OSC students will participate in the program.

Area students in the symphonic band are James Jensen, Neenah; Judy Drucks, Menasha; Faye Royan and Calvin Culbertson, Appleton; LaVerne Lorbecki, Elizabeth Ryf, Roger Becker, Don Beiner, John Holland, Terry Schwonek, Jeris Bailey, Leonard Ott, David Markofski and Charles Pommerening, all of Oshkosh.

Board Accepts Resignation Of 2 Teachers

One Plans to Marry, Other Has New Position

NEENAH — Resignations of two teachers effective at the end of this semester were accepted by the Board of Education Monday night, which pointed out that no suitable replacements for these two teachers have been secured.

Those who resigned are Miss Helene Peterson, who has taught Latin at Neenah High School for 26 years, and John Reque, social studies teacher at the high school for the last 2½ years. Miss Peterson plans to be married and to move from the city and Reque has obtained employment elsewhere.

The Board approved the hiring of Mrs. Virginia Foght as a part-time social studies teacher for the junior high school, relieving Edward Hein of part of his teaching duties and allowing him more time for library supervision. She was hired for the remainder of the school year.

Salary increases of 3 per cent across the board were approved for the clerical, custodial and adult personnel in the hot lunch program. This increase corresponds to that given other city employees.

An increase in the elementary grade workbook fees effective in September also was approved. The board pointed out that the new fee still will not cover the complete cost for the workbooks.

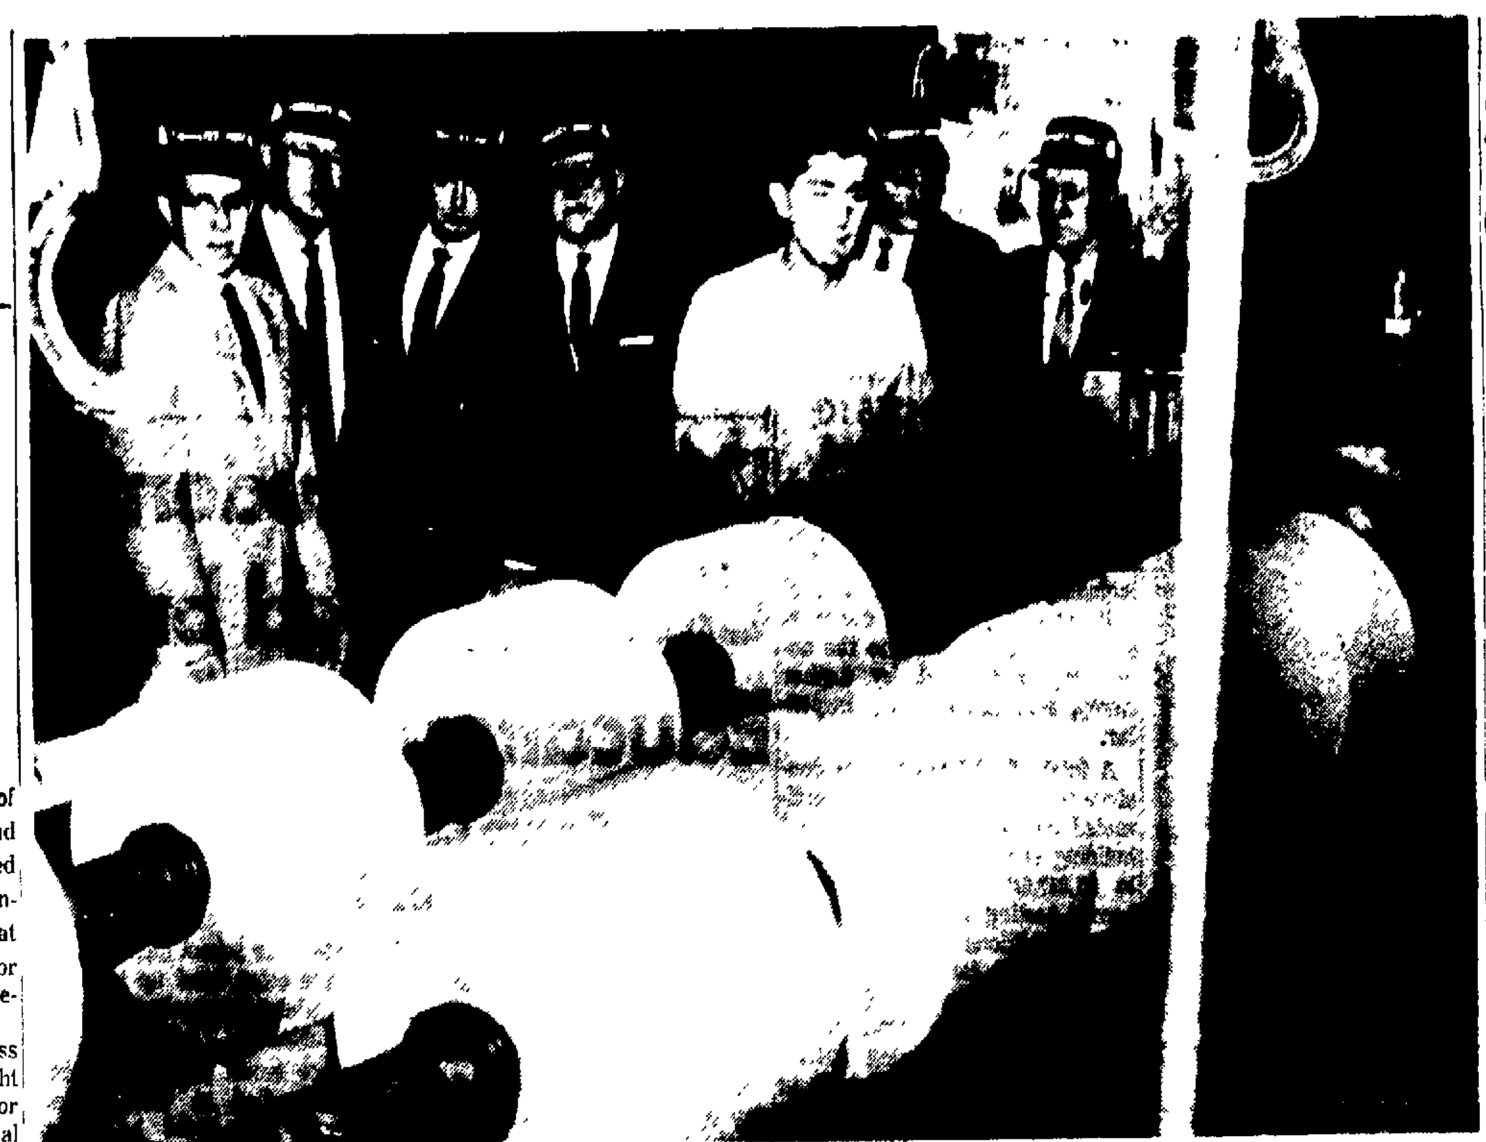

Frank Hochholzer was named official delegate of the board to the Wisconsin Association of School Boards convention at Milwaukee Jan. 24 to 26. Other members of the Board as well as Dr. Donald Scott, superintendent of schools, plan to attend parts of the sessions.

Paul Groth, chairman of the Neenah Board of Education, will be a member of a panel discussing "Successes Credited to Our System of Education," speaking as a representative of industry.

Earl Brien, supervisor of properties, reported that his staff is converting one room at the administrative center, the former Kimberly Junior High School, into three offices, one to be occupied by the elementary supervisor. This will bring the school administrative personnel into one building.

Preliminary plans for the new Edgewood area elementary school will be ready next week for review by the board and engineering work on the high school additions is progressing with engineers here last week to check the electrical and heating facilities, the board was advised.

An end of the year financial report presented to the Board showed an unexpended balance of about $4,500 which the board is asking to be applied to the junior high school equipment financing.

Air Force Man Cites Plan Need

Disaster Program Necessary in Case Of Accidental War

A strong plea for a civil defense disaster plan in Appleton was made by Lt. Col. Carroll M. Newstrom of the Lawrence College AFROTC before the Lions Club Monday.

"Although Appleton is not a prime target, it can get hit by accident as well as by design," Newstrom said, "and with 49,000 people in town there had better be one plan so people go in one direction instead of 49,000 different ones."

Modern war has been speeded to such an extent that an enemy weapon can hit America within 15 minutes, yet there is much that can be done if we have a plan, he said. Either a defeatist or a hysterical attitude to the possibility of war is sheer nonsense, in Newstrom's opinion.

Key to Survival

The key to survival is to make disaster plans without further procrastination. The local plan may be quite simple, but it must be well known, he pointed out.

The colonel said he didn't believe that war will start deliberately, since Russia is quite aware of America's strength, but the possibility of war by accident should not be discounted.

'Inner Core' Study Not Only for Welfare Cases

this study does not want to single out only welfare cases. We want a complete report of living conditions of all people in the "inner core," Kagen said.

Kagen said most of the homes in the "inner core" are occupied by renters who must request landlords or rental agencies for home repairs.

Outagamie County Welfare Director Alfred Eggert called the city's attempt to study living conditions "long overdue."

"This study is 10 years too late," Eggert said. "The problem does not become eliminated simply by moving a family from a poor house. In no time time at all, the house is occupied again and we have only added to the problem."

Eggert said the county welfare department has been moving families receiving county assistance from poor houses to better housing "for years."

Although he was invited to attend, Eggert was not able to be at the city health commissioner's meeting Monday.

Bishop, who will be in charge of the inspections, said the study "can be a good thing if people don't get the wrong facts about the intent of the study."

Basically the research will look at the waste disposal, rubbish, garbage and the number of people living in the homes.

Studies will be conducted on insulation and construction of the houses.

Bishop said the neighborhoods to be studied have been "pretty well laid out" but he declined to specify which section of the city would be most intently studied.

Bishop said the completed study will go far in establishing a health code to be enforced in the study. The study is expected to take two months.

Democrats For Added Bank Taxes

MADISON (AP)— State Assembly Democrats today called for enactment of additional taxes on financial institutions but debate on the measure was suspended to allow Gov. Gaylord Nelson to deliver his message to lawmakers.

Minority floorleader Robert Huber, D-West Allis, scored Republicans on the other side of the aisle for their opposition to the bank tax measure.

"The bankers are safe as long as the GOP has control," Huber said.

He told Republicans they should put in their platform the statement, "we favor what banks favor." The platform would then be "short, clear and true," Huber added.

Republican Willis Hutnik of Tony charged that by supporting a bank tax, Democrats were "grasping for some issue to run on" in the next election.

The measure under consideration would supersede the tax on financial institutions in Wisconsin's new tax law. It would then levy an additional $2.2 million a year taxes on banks and $800,000 yearly on savings and loan associations. The measure would require a two-thirds vote for passage because of a constitutional requirement.

School Board Okays Class for 'Disturbed'

Board member Victor Sumnicht questioned how the emotionally disturbed child would be identified. "It's an extremely intangible thing," he said.

Kurtz said that the teacher, school psychologist, social worker and other members of the school staff would work together in identifying the children, and would make careful studies of case histories.

"If there is a lack of adjustment, a mental or emotional block of some kind, that child needs help," he said. "The case history will reveal it. None of us are normal all the time. It is difficult to define what is an abnormal child or an emotionally disturbed child because all of us are in that position at times. So it is necessary to work with case histories. We may not be right all the time, but we will give the diagnosis on the best information available."

Parents' consent and cooperation with the program would be needed for its success, he added.

Return to Classes

Asked what the chances would be for rehabilitation of the emotionally disturbed children, Kurtz said that the less critical cases would probably stay in the class two to three years an tdhen return to the regular classroom. The more critical cases would be directed to institutions which could give the necessary help.

Part of the reason for establishing this class is to identify problems earlier, Miss Wuest said. If we identify a problem at 8 or 10 years, he perhaps won't become a more serious problem at 16, she pointed out.

If the pilot study proves successful, it may be continued at the junior high level, Kurtz said.

"I see this as far more reaching than just the class," Kurtz said. "In this program we can set the stage for inservice training for the teachers, so they will be in a position to identify emotionally disturbed children and will be better able to handle youngsters in the fringe areas. I envision many ramifications of this within our teaching program."

William Spears, new assistant superintendent of schools, described a similar class at La-Crosse which was started last September. This program is in an embryo stage in Wisconsin, he said.

If the program is approved and ready to start in September, money will have to come from that approved for resource personnel, Kurtz said.

County Will Ask Advance Of Tax Funds

City of Appleton Requested to Pay $100,000 Early

The Outagamie County Board's general fund has been tapped to the extent that the county has to get a $100,000 advance from the city of Appleton on tax funds to meet its current operating expenses, Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer told the supervisors today.

Fulcer, however, emphasized the county is not broke.

"We are solvent," the chairman said, "but we did not have sufficient funds available to meet our expenses."

'Operate Close'

Fulcer said "we'll operate as close as we can but we'll probably be in a position where we'll have to borrow money to meet expenses. What the whole thing means, gentlemen, is that we are spending money early in January that actually isn't due us until March."

The chairman said supervisors should not ask for money transfers from the contingency fund except in extreme emergencies.

Fulcer said the situation as it is developing is a "bad trend." He said county governments, more and more, are being required to act as bankers for various agencies "including the state of Wisconsin." This, he said, has the effect of tying up funds which normally could be used to meet current operating expenses.

Judge Explains New Rules In Small Claims Court Cases

OSHKOSH — Operations of the small claims branch of the county court branch No. 2 were explained by County Judge Arnold J. Cane Monday noon to the Winnebago County Bar Association at its meeting at Alex's Town House here.

The small claims court section takes over some of the activities formerly handled by justice of the peace courts and hears claims of up to $500. Such sessions will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesdays in what formerly was designated as the municipal court room, starting probably Jan. 24.

He said the aim of this court's operation will be for simplicity, speed and economy in handling these claims. Process shall be served by regular mail by the clerk for his court instead of having to be by personal service or substitute service.

No Complaint Needed

In civil actions for money judgment, no complaint need be served but the amount claimed must be stated in the summons. If the defendant demands a complaint in writing, one shall be served by mailing him one within five days after the demand is made. A return date for the summons must be obtained from the deputy clerk of courts for Branch 2, Bert Nonweiler, before the summons shall be issued.

He also outlined the rules which will be followed for garnishments, replevin actions and unlawful detainer actions, such as evictions. These also formerly were heard by justices of the peace.

County Judge Herbert J. Mueller mentioned the new fee charges for certified copies in probate actions and S. Norman Moe, bar association vice president, spoke on the Wisconsin Bar Association meeting held recently. The third court action was discussed by William E. Crane.

Industry Unit Annual Dinner Set Monday

OSHKOSH — New officers of Associated Industries will take over at the annual dinner meeting at 6:15 p.m. Monday at the Hotel Athearn.

John Dyer, general manager of Oshkosh Corrugated Box Co., will take over as president to succeed Hugo Eckhardt, chairman of the board of Morgan Co.

The other new officers are John P. Mosling, president of Oshkosh Motor Truck Inc., vice president, and R. L. Wollangk of U.S. Motors Corp., secretary - treasurer.

Speaking to the association members and their wives will be Edward McFaul of Chicago, a consultant to various industries with 30 years of experience in the field of teaching personnel management and selling.

McFaul received his education at the University of Michigan, Harvard School of Business Administration and the University of Edinburgh. He was taught at DePaul and Northwestern universities.

He served in the Navy during World War II and has had been superintendent of the famous army school for the blind at Avon, Conn.

Use Libraries for Books, Not Classes, Agency Advises

NEENAH — School library rooms should be used for their intended purposes instead of for classrooms, the State Department of Public Instruction's annual report on Neenah public school libraries informed the Board of Education.

Because of classroom demand in Neenah schools, the libraries are used for classes in elementary buildings.

In that connection, school libraries should be centralized and building libraries should be more complete, the report also said. The school system now uses public library facilities, whose cost the board was advised to study.

The board was advised to continue its efforts toward spending $2.50 each year per student in elementary school to upgrade the library facilities.

School librarians qualified to assist teachers in program preparation also should be engaged, the report said.

Lawrence Buys Derber House

Plan to Convert Home Into Office Space for College

Lawrence College has purchased the former Gordon Derber residence, 706 E. College Ave., to use as an administrative building, President Douglas M. Knight said. Terms of the sale were not announced.

The house, on the northeast corner of College Avenue and Lawe Street, will house the alumni and development offices on the first floor, and the offices of President Knight and Vice President Marshall B. Hulbert on the second. All deans will remain on the second floor of the library with the business office.

The space vacated in Sampson House (the former president's residence) by the removal of the alumni and development office will be used to enlarge the admissions office and for faculty space.

No structural changes are contemplated in the Derber house. The move to the new house, which has not yet been named, will be completed by Jan. 20.

$3.5 Million State Surplus Seen in 1963

MADISON (AP)— The Department of Administration informed Gov. Gaylord Nelson today that the state's budget can be balanced and there will be a surplus of $3.5 million June 30, 1963 under presently enacted legislation.

The department said its executive budget analysis is based on the assumption several major spending bills before lawmakers will not be approved.

Total revenue available for 1961-63 were set at $506.2 million and estimated appropriations for the same period $502.8 million.

Appropriation bills pending involved approximately $40 million.

The department noted that under the original compromise tax plan the state would have had a $30 million surplus but amendments and revenue measures have reduced the figure.

The report said the state will collect a total of $560.8 million in the biennium, with $85 million going for real estate and personal property tax relief.

Major bills still in the Legislature and price tags include $4.4 million for the long range building program; $2.5 million for university hospitals expansion; $17 million for school aid, $10.4 for medical care for the aged under a federal program and $600,000 for legislative salary increases.

State President Of Elks Will be Feted Thursday

AMC Officers Take Pay Cut Amounting to $500,000

DETROIT (AP) — Officers of American Motors Corp. took a pay cut of almost $500,000 in the form of reduced bonuses in fiscal 1961, the company's proxy statement showed today.

The statement mailed to shareholders in advance of the AMC annual meeting Feb. 7 showed that George Romney received $149,211 in the year ended Sept 30. The previous year he collected $250,000.

Romney served as chairman, president, general manager and as a director. He since has relinquished the general manager's job.

Chapin Takes Cut

Roy D. Chapin Jr. and Roy Abernathy, both executive vice presidents and directors, dropped from $166,691 to $106,158 each. Bernard A. Chapman, also an executive vice president and director, dropped from $166,691 to $102,541.

The officers and directors as a group received $995,183 in fiscal 1961 and $1,479,420 in fiscal 1960.

Net earnings of the company were $23.6 million in 1961 compared with $43.2 million in 1960.

The 12 present directors are candidates for reelection at the meeting.

Holdings Increase

The statement showed Romney increased his AMC stock holdings by 1,580 shares to 102,305 shares during the year. Chapin's holdings went up to 11,360 shares to 65,810; Chapman's 6,150 shares to 27,115 and Abernathy's 5,206 shares to 15,697. They are the four largest stockholders on the board.

Shareholders will be asked to approve parts of two profit sharing plans instituted by the company. One is for salaried employes not eligible for bonuses and the other is part of AMC's new contract with the United Auto Workers union.

Both provide for the payment of authorized, but unissued stock.

The company's directors said that since such plans "will dilute the equity of existing shareholders by decreasing their percentage of ownership in the corporation" it was deemed advisable to submit the stock portions to a general vote of the meeting.

The statement also showed Romney still holds options to purchase 43,697 shares at $9.91 a share and 64,260 shares at $18.40 a share. The stock closed Monday at $16.87.

The statement contained no reference to Romney's possibly entry into politics. He has said he is considering becoming a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan and has promised a decision by Feb. 10, three days after the annual meeting. He also has said the AMC board opposes such action on his part.

2 Men Pay for Tipsy Driving

Driver Arrested When He Drives Into Wrong Lane

Two area men arrested for drunken driving paid fines totaling $281.

Into Wrong Lane

State policeman Robert Wilhelm said he had to stop his squad car when Southard drove into the wrong lane.

Southard pleaded innocent through his attorney Jan. 2 when he was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court.

Russell A. Dean, 23, 174 S. Madison St., Clintonville was fined $125 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving before Municipal Judge Harold Hedtke Monday night. He was arrested Saturday night by Clintonville police.

Laos Terms Pressure By U. S. 'Intolerable'

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Prince Boun Oum's right-wing Laotian government today termed American pressure to make it join a coalition regime "intolerable" and said the Lao people would rather tighten their belts than yield.

The United States postponed delivery of its monthly aid—the government's financial mainstay—after Vice Premier Phoumi Nosavan rejected U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Brown's strong suggestions that the rightists drop their demands for the key defense and interior posts in the proposed coalition with forces of neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong.

Around Home..

Floyd Kaminsky, New London, who has a son at Fort Lewis, brought in a copy of the Lewiston (Idaho) Morning Tribune to show why Wisconsin's 32nd division members became irritated with the unsought publicity resulting fromt visits by Wisconsin congressmen.

The Page 1 story, with a headline reading "The Quiet Ones," points out Idaho has contributed some men, too, and they underwent the same difficulties, but quietly.

"No worried brass from the Pentagon hurried west to soothe the ruffled feathers of the Idaho men," the story says. "Idaho's senators and congressmen did not find it necessary to go out to Fort Lewis and personally examine their constituent's latrines. The President of the United States has not had to tell the Idaho men, in effect, to shut up and act their age."

Youth Fined $20

MADISON (AP) — The Public Service Commission authorized the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. Monday to remove its depots in Blue Mounds, Dane County, and Zachow, Shawano County.

Heffernan Looks For Promotion

MADISON (AP)— Deputy State Atty. Gen. Nathan S. Heffernan, 41, said Monday night he expects to be nominated as U.S. attorney for western Wisconsin.

"It is my understanding that the Justice Department has nominated me for the post and the President will submit my name for Senate consideration within the next few days," Heffernan said.

Heffernan, who was chairman of the 1961 Democratic state convention at Eau Claire, would receive a $3,500 a year pay boost in the $15,000 a year post now held by George Rapp.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Heffernan served as assistant district attorney of Sheboygan County from 1950 to 1953 and then as Sheboygan city attorney until 1959. He also was on the staff of former Gov. Oscar Rennebohm.

Court Instructs Foes In McGuffey Dispute to Make Settlement Try

KENOSHA (AP)—Both sides in the McGuffey Reader controversy at the Twin Lakes elementary school have been instructed to try another time for an out-of-court settlement.

Circuit Court Judge Eugene M. Baker made the request Monday and asked for a report on the outcome of the effort within 48 hours.

Baker said that if no agreement is reached, a date will be set for resuming a hearing on a petition for the ouster of four members of the school board.

Settlement conferences were started last month and brought an initial report of some progress before they were broken off with attorneys saying the parties were still far apart.

After two days of testimony, Judge Baker suspended the hearing because of a death in his family. At that time he called for a conference of the parties concerned.

Airlines Plan Fines For False Reservations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airlines may begin on March 1 charging passengers up to $50 when they don't show up for their reservations, the Civil Aeronautics Board has decided in a tentative ruling.

But a passenger may also collect a penalty of at least $25 if he shows up with a ticket and finds no seat available.

In a ruling Monday, the CAB said the order would be deferred for 20 days to allow the airlines or other interested parties to file comments or protests.

The action stemmed from a request of 11 major airlines that something be done about the "no-shows."

Youths Caught Taking Lights; Go to School by Huber Law

Two 17-year-old Appleton youths who stole a string of 30 Christmas tree lights from an outdoor tree were sent to jail Monday by Municipal Judge Gustave J. Keller.

The youths admitted taking the lights Jan. 2 from a tree at a home at Oklahoma and Locust Streets. A neighbor saw them and called police.

Judge Keller sentenced the two to five days in jail, with a provision that they are to attend school under the Huber law. A 13-year-old who accompanied them appeared in juvenile court, but Judge Raymond Dohr waived jurisdiction on the 17-year-olds and they were brought before Judge Keller.

Judge Keller, in passing sentence said "Your statements in explanation of your acts, is that you did not think. That same explanation, not thinking, could be made in far too many cases that come into this court."

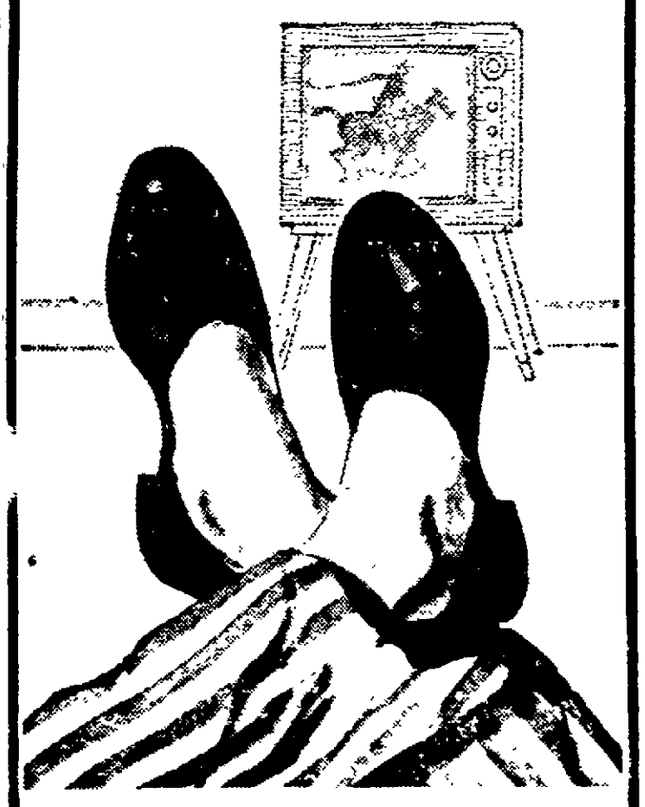

"In matters of right or wrong, taking or destroying property of others, not thinking is neither an excuse nor a reason for condonation."

The jail sentence, Judge Keller said, should result in making people think before they act.

He added that, although stealing Christmas decorations is a "reprehensible" act, he felt the punishment should not interfere with school work.

He commended the youths' parents for coming to court.

Brain Twisters

BY DON DOUGLAS

Here's a little test for your mathematical mind. A square, lidless box, 6 inches deep, is to be made from a square piece of tin by cutting a square from each corner, bending up the sides, and soldering along the edges. If the box is to contain 384 cubic inches, how large a piece of tin is required?

Answer

20 inches square. Divide 384 by 6 to find area of the bottom of the box; extract square root to find length of one side; since the box is to be six inches deep, then that is the length of one side of the square to be cut from each corner; add 8 plus 6 plus 6.

Freedom Bonds New Savings Pitch

BY SYLVIA PORTER

A week from this Friday in a Washington hotel, 700 of the nation's leaders in industry, finance, labor and communications will meet with President Kennedy, Secretary of State Rusk, Secretary of the Treasury Dillion, Federal Reserve Board chairman Martin, other highest level officials in Government to kick off the "Freedom Bond Drive" of 1962.

Porter

"Freedom Bond" is this year's name for the familiar U.S. Savings Bond, of which tens of millions of us already own an all-time high total of $44 5 billion.

With these news-making names attending and with the guests skillfully selected from every state, of course the Jan. 19 conference will get headlines. At the meeting, Dillon will announce that the Treasury's aim is to sell $4¾ billion E and H Savings Bonds this year against sales of $4 5 billion in 1961. The corporation executives will be urged to expand their payroll deduction plans, under which 8 million employes already are buying bonds regularly week after week.

Frank Report

The points will be made that when you buy Savings Bonds, you help finance our nation's defense needs, strengthen our economy, protect the U.S. dollar. The President will close the conference with a frank report on our economic, financial and foreign policies.

It's going to be a glittering meeting designed to give maximum publicity to the Freedom Bond Drive — and with reason.

For not ever in its long, proud history as a Defense Bond, a War Bond and now a Freedom Bond has this hardy little security faced such stiff competition from other savings mediums as today.

A Savings Bond pays you 3¾ per cent interest if you hold it to maturity in 7¾ years and 3 per cent interest if you hold it two years. This has been a fair rate of return for the small saver during the past couple of years.

But an upheaval is occurring in the entire savings field. From coast to coast, financial institutions are now paying savers the highest rates in a generation. In such big cities as New York, commercial banks are paying 4 per cent on deposits left a year or more. Across the country, savings banks and savings and loan associations are paying up to 4½ per cent, even more. Some institutions are creating their own savings "bonds" and "certificates" and aggressively promoting the 4 per cent return to maturity

Rough Competition

This is competition, rough and tough, for the Savings Bond under any name. And although the U.S bond has advantages other mediums do not — particularly the fact that you can buy them under payroll deduction plans and thereby discipline yourself into saving regularly toward your nestegg — it is conceivable that the competition will slash into sales of the Freedom Bond this year.

If the drive does falter, then what might happen?

What might happen is that as in 1957 and in 1959, the rate of return on the bonds at maturity will be raised again. Under the 1959 law, the President can boost the return on the bonds up to 4¼ per cent without asking Congress' permission.

"We do not contemplate any action now," insists William H. Neal, National Director of the Treasury's Savings Bond Division, and Neal properly emphasizes that while rates on savings run to 4-4½ per cent in some areas, most banks are paying much less and the average that can be earned through the nation is far below the peak.

No Premium

"But we are continually studying our package to find ways to improve it," Neal also declares. "The Treasury doesn't want to place a premium rate on the Savings Bond to draw funds from other sources" but it doesn't want to penalize buyers of its bonds either.

So if the Freedom Bond Drive falters in the months ahead, another rate hike is probable and the President most probably would extend the rate increase to all who already had bought bonds in 1962.

The competitive battle for your new savings dollar between financial institutions is just beginning. On Jan. 19, the mighty U.S. Treasury joins in too. In 1962, the thrifty American is really coming into his own.

New Medic Trend May Outstrip TV Westerns

Future Programs Indicate Six-Gun to Take Second Place to Scalpel, Syringe

BY JINGO

As the television seasons march on to wherever they go, a phenomenon may develop a longing for Western shows.

The reason for this forecast is the announcement of some plans for future TV seasons. Ladies and gentlemen, Fee-Vee may be based on the schedule of office calls. The scalpel and syringe are about to take the place of the bull whip and six-gun. The caduceus may very well replace the rabbit ears.

"Medic" was a pioneer that made Richard Boone a star, but it didn't start a trend. That job was left to a piece of property gathering dust in MGM files and the predictable curiosity for surgery. "Dr. Kildare" and "Dr. Casey" have started something.

Jingo

Bing Crosby Productions have combined the fledgling trend with sure-fire box office and are shooting "Come a-Runnin'," It's a tale about a femme sawbones with Ruth Hussey starring.

A Chicago insurance company is backing a 15-minute spot, "The Doctor Answers" to spread the latest medical information and Desilu also is combining box office with "The White Knight," medical detective.

CBS-TV is going medical, too, but not as deeply as the others. Its show wil lbe about plastic surgery. Barry Sullivan'st Lincoln County Production will straddle the incoming and outgoing trend with "Doctor on Horseback."

Not exactly in the some company, but surely on its edge, will be Ernie Kovacs' series, "Medicine Man." Buster Keaton will be the stony-faced Indian aide for the Western con-man.

Appropo to the subject, Jingo's heard of a new cocktail purportedly invented for the medics. It's a daiquiri with a hickory nut in it. You know, Hickory Daiquir, Doc?

Screen Gems' success with Shirley Booth in the Hazel series has moved it to bring other big names into the fold. Ethel Merman is preparing a series to be called "Call Me Ethel," friendly, what? The other name is the aforementioned Kovacs. The fantastic Hungarian's fans needn't worry. Ernie will continue bringing his uniquely imaginative specials to the air.

* * *

Many stars have good luck with oils, on canvas and in the ground. Beatrice Lillie is usually a model for the canvas type oil succeeder. However, a still life, recently, of red snapdragons went haywire and the oils ran. Never daunted. Lady Peel just changed its name to "Nosebleed," she says.

* * *

The late shows on TV have done wonders to renew film careers. TV series do the same thing for films. Robert Taylor's Detectives are so popular that MGM is dusting off some of Bob's past box office bombs. Keep your eyes peeled for "Knights of the Round Table" and "Ivanhoe." Of course, Lerner and Loewe's success may have figured in the revival a little too.

Hecht Play Acquired For Motion Picture

NEW YORK — Edward Schreiber, who recently filmed "Katie's Lot," a 19-minute novella in Eastman Color, starring Jenny Hecht, has acquired the motion picture rights to Ben Hecht's stage play, "Winkelberg," based on the life of novelist Maxwell Bodenheim. Schreiber plans to film the picture in New York some time in 1962.

Club Entertained

WITTENBERG — Mrs. Joseph Turecek entertained her schafskopf club with prizes going to Mrs. Edward Bloecher, Mrs. Alma Werth and Mrs. Otto Frederick.

Good Shows Bunch Up On TV Today

9-10 (Channel 11) — Alcoa Premiere has Ray Milland in "Pattern of Guilt," a play which surmounts obviousness to become a gripping experience. You can see the web tightening around Milland, as a reporter covering a series of murders. It is increasingly plain what fate has in store for him, and you almost want to beg him to avoid the pitfall. But, steadily, he is drawn into the trap. Complicating his life are two women — ex-wife Lucy Prentis and his present hard-headed wife, Joanna Moore.

9-10 (Channel 2) — If you like popular music, when it's well sung, The Garry Moore Show tonight is your meat. With Garry vacationing, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme take over, and they're just the best. They do two duets ("A Lot of Livin' To Do" and "Make Someone Happy") and they each have several solos, so relax, enjoy. Jack Carter is the comedy guest.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 5) — Bob Fuller carries the load on this week's Laramie, a genuine old-fashioned Western plot — horse-thievery, jail-breakery and camaraderie. Fuller's horse is stolen and he tracks the thief down. He turns out to be a young Mexican (Rafael Campos). Justice is too severe. Fuller thinks, and he helps the boy escape. (Color)

7:30-8 (Channel 2) — Politics is the butt of the jokes on Dobie Gillis this week. Dobie's father is running for something or other, and Dobie is running after his opponent's daughter. As if this weren't enough, the opponent has the temerity to introduce an issue into the campaign, one which Dad Gillis knows nothing about.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 11) — The New Breed turns to narcotics tonight, with Joan Hackett the heroin heroine. She's hooked and her husband, Peter Falk, an illegal Mexican immigrant, risks his life and his residence in the U.S. to try to help her.

8-9 (Channel 5) — The conveniently timed Powell-Allyson reconciliation makes it nice for tonight's Dick Powell Show, which features the host and June Allyson in a fantasy which is very reminiscent of "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" and such shows. Again, we have a man (Powell, as a gangster) whose date in the next world is temporarily postponed. A lot of big names are scattered throughout the cast — Edgar Bergen and Ernest Truex as the Heavenly emissaries. Andy Williams as a rock 'n' roll singer (but he doesn't sing), Tuesday Weld as the singer's fan, and John Saxon as a hoodlum. The Powells' children also make an appearance.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Cain's Hundred is helped tonight by an intriguing character — Frank McHugh as an elderly apologist for the numbers racket in general and one particular numerical kingpin (Martin Balsam) in particular. Mark Richman as Cain keeps plugging away to persuade McHugh to inform, but it's no deal.

10:20-12 (Channel 4-5) — Jack Paar's guests are Alexander King, Robert Merrill and Phil Foster. (Color)

24 Prints by Contemporary Japanese Artists on Display

A selected exhibition of 24 color and black and white prints by Japanese artists, entitled "The Spirit of the Japanese Print," opened Monday at Reeve Memorial Union on the campus of Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh.

The exhibit, which will continue through Jan. 23, is sponsored by the Reeve Memorial Union Program Committee. Steve Karges, Oshkosh, is chairman. Students assisting in organizing and setting up the exhibit include Judith Shwonek, Karin Nordstrom, and Mary Jo Perk, all of Oshkosh; Lois Montgomery, Pewaukee; Mary Stahmer, West Bend; Geraldine Smith, West Bend, and Margie Gould, Peshtigo.

This exhibit initially was shown at the Japan Society in New York and is now being circulated throughout the United States by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service.

The exhibition is the outcome of the noted author James A. Michenre's decision to write an appreciation of the art of Japan as seen in the modern Japanese print. To this end, Michener and the Charles E. Tuttle Co. sponsored a contest open to all Japanese artists. From the many entries, a distinguished jury selected 24 prints. Ten of these were chosen for the coming Michener book.

The prints are executed in a variety of media, subject matter and style. Some are concerned with traditional Japanese subject matter and bear such titles as "Comic Shinto Dancers" and "Guardian Diety of the Roads". Others are representational works of landscapes, animals and man, and non-representational works.

Witness Says Kohler Stock Sold for $92

Broker Testifies Book Value Dropped Between 1952-53

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Stock in the Kohler Co. would have brought only $92 in public sale in 1953, a defense witness testified Monday in the suit by former Republican Gov. Walter J. Kohler Jr. who is seeking $214,156 from the firm and its president, his uncle Herbert V. Kohler.

Walter Kohler sold over 21,000 shares of the plumbingware firm's stock to the company and his uncle for nearly $2.5 million that year, but contends it was worth $125 a share, not the $115 he received.

Harry Wildeman, a partner in a Chicago brokerage firm, testified the book value of the stock at the end of 1952 was $169 a share. But Wildeman, the first defense witness in the U.S. District Court trial, said that in estimating market value of a stock its book value "was a minor consideration."

$112 Earnings

Under cross-examination, Wildeman said that Kohler Co. earnings for the six years preceding the stock sales were $112.

Walter Kohler testified last week he was not told of certain reserves and tax credits, which he said would have increased the value of the shares.

Wildeman, in answering another question, said, "It wouldn't have changed my opinion if these reserves had been added to the net worth."

He also said he "didn't recall" hearing of a tax rebate prior to the sale. But the credit, he said, "would have no materiality in determining the value of the stock."

Obsolete Machinery in U. S. Must be Replaced, Harnischfeger Claims

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The president of the Harnischfeger Corp. said Monday that more than $100 billion in obsolete machinery must be replaced within the next few years if America is to retain world industrial leadership.

Henry Harnischfeger, addressing the annual meeting of stockholders in the heavy equipment firm, said Congress should relieve industry by setting a maximum 10-year write-off across the board on depreciation tax schedules. The present write-off is 20 years.

He said such action probably would be followed by losses in federal revenue for three to five years, but the losses would be more than offset by increased revenues from greater productivity and accelerated economic growth.

Four Crewmen Killed In Navy Plane Crash

MANILA (AP) — A U.S. Navy Skyraider attack plane crashed after takeoff from Subic Point Air Station today. All four crewmen were killed, the Navy said.

The victims, two officers and two enlisted men, were attached to the aircraft carrier Lexington.

Proposal for East-West Standstill Accord on Berlin Topic at Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan met with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today and informants said they would discuss a new U.S.-British proposal for an East-West standstill agreement to take the heat off the Berlin crisis.

Macmillan and the West German chancellor opened the first of several sessions in their day-long talks with only interpreters present. Their foreign ministers and other aides were to join them for lunch and an afternoon meeting.

No agenda was set, but Macmillan and Adenauer were expected to take up the Briton's December meeting with President Kennedy in Bermuda. Britain's negotiations to enter the six-nation European Common Market, and Britain's desire that the Bonn government offset some of the $196-million annual maintenance cost of the 51,000-man British Army of the Rhine.

Selectivity

You may have noticed that some stocks respond more strongly to good news than stocks of other companies operating in the same field. Such favored stocks are also apt to show greater stability in times of stress.

This emphasizes the importance of being selective—in short, choosing the stocks of companies which are in the strongest competitive position.

It may pay you to ask yourself if the stocks you now own meet this test. If you are not sure, consult us—we have the facts you need for a sound appraisal.

MEMBERS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE AND OTHER PRINCIPAL SECURITY AND COMMODITY EXCHANGES

Market Shows Slight Gains

Advance Partially Recovers Some of Year's Sharp Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced early this afternoon, making a partial recovery of its sharp losses of 1962. Trading was fairly active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .60 at 256.50 with industrials up .60, rails up .60 and utilities up .40.

General Recovery

The recovery was fairly general, taking in most steels, rails, oils, motors, nonferrous metals, aircraft-missiles, rubbers, electrical equipments and mail order retails.

Chemicals, building materials and tobaccos were mixed.

High-priced International Business Machines, which has lost much ground, recovered 10 points or so. Amerada was up about 3.

Prices Drop

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Rancher Ends Cattle Drive In Dakota

WINNER, S.D. (AP)—Rancher Don Hight punched his 1,800 steers into this South Dakota livestock center a day ahead of schedule after a 65-mile cattle drive he figures saved $2,000 in trucking costs.

A predicted worsening of the rugged winter weather that stayed with him throughout the five-day drive prompted the cattleman and his seven drovers to bring the animals in Monday night.

Despite a weight loss caused by the extended drive, Hight expects to net about $360,000 from the sale, which begins Thursday.

Planned Arrival

Today's weather forecast called for winds up to 40 miles an hour with a temperature of 15 below.

Wind-blown snow had cut visibility to a quarter mile by the time Hight and his drovers nudged the herd over its final 17 miles to the safety of the stock pens.

Hight figures plenty of feed and water between now and the sale time will put lost weight back on his steers.

Wisconsin Poultry

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin live poultry, broilers and fryers: steady. Demand slow to fair; supplies adequate for current needs. Prices at farms 16 cents. # Two Rural Districts Vote to Join Neenah School System

Tullar Voters Okay Change By Informal Vote of 43 to 3

NEENAH — Tullar School District residents Monday night voted 43-3 to "seek attachment to the City of Neenah for school purposes only, as the preferred way to comply with Public Law 563."

The informal vote was taken at what probably will be the final official meeting of the Tullar School District No. 2 of the Town of Neenah.

Next step is for the petition signed by many district electors to be submitted to the county school committee, which will set a public hearing in two to four weeks, as provided by statute.

The district, at its July 24 annual meeting, voted on an advisory resolution to join Neenah on a unified school district basis.

However, Board of Education Director Harlan Hirschy noted, the City of Neenah will not accept the district except on a joint-city basis.

Can Change to Unified

In a joint-city district, the school budget is approved by the common council and town board chairmen involved, the city and rural votes apportioned according to equalized valuations. In a unified district, the school budget is set by the school board, which holds its own public hearing.)

Once the attachment is made, Hirschy replied to a citizen's query, the joint district can be changed to unified. Petitions asking a referendum could ensure a vote by both city and rural residents, he added.

Several questions went unanswered, since the Neenah Board of Education has not arrived at decisions.

One citizen wanted to know how district school bus transportation would be affected. Another asked about the hot lunch program.

A third asked about pupil assignment to schools.

Director Hirschy said no answers are known, "but we can assume the school board members are reasonable people."

Can Offer Contracts

On the married women teachers, Hirschy said the present Tullar board can offer new contracts and the Neenah school system would be held to them. (Neenah's board has a policy against employing married women teachers.) "The board generally plans to leave the faculties as they are. On the curriculum committee, members of rural school faculties are at work studying course materials and books."

Only 1 Dissenter Present at Lakeview Meeting

NEENAH — Electors of the Lakeview School District Monday night voted — with only one dissenting ballot — to join with the City of Neenah for school purposes.

Action was taken at a brief, informational meeting at which electors were brought up to date on the school consolidation question by members of the School Board and Special Citizens' committee.

Following the decision to unite with the city for school purposes, the electors voted, 21 to 12, to petition the County School Committee for a hearing on attachment to the city school district.

Petition

Jack Meyer, a director of the school board, said the petition would be presented to the county school committee immediately.

Earlier in the meeting Meyer had advocated petitioning the Town of Neenah Board for attachment, but his proposal was voted down after Town Chairman Laurel Heaney said petitioning the County School Committee would be simpler and more direct.

At the annual school meeting in July, electors of the district had endorsed attachment to the Neenah school district under a unified plan.

Meyer said, however, that the township residents had been unable "to get a strong organization in the city to educate people there," and as a consequence no action had been taken on the issue of unified vs. joint city district.

"The only recommendation to be made now is to go into the city of Neenah on the joint city plan," he added.

Police Elect Porath Head Of Association

MENASHA — Members of Local 34, Menasha Professional Policemen's Association, Monday night elected Sgt. Robert Porath president, succeeding Sgt. Henry Reimer.

Porath

Ciske

Lingnofski

Sgt. Virgil Lingnofski was elected vice president and Patrolman William Ciske reelected secretary - treasurer.

Reimer, former vice president, succeeded to the presidency after the former president, Patrolman Thomas Talbot, resigned from the force.

Policemen also reelected Ciske and elected Capt. Roman Rappert and Patrolman John Lux to the Police Pension Board. Rappert and Lux succeed Patrolmen Charles Evans and David Kolasinski.

The pension board also includes the police chief, mayor, city treasurer and city clerk-comptroller, by virtue of their jobs.

Menasha Town Buys Pumping Station Site

Announcement Made During Board Meeting

MENASHA — Purcahse of a site on the municipal bathing beach road for location of a pumping station for the interceptor sewer system of Sanitary District No. 4 of the Town of Menasha was announced at Monday night's Town Board meeting.

The site is 40 by 120 feet in size and was purchased from Frank Kasel. It is just south of State 114. It was purchased by the Board in its role as sanitary district commissioners.

Three residents along the Brighton Beach Road met with the Town Board to discuss progress toward the town taking over that road which is now a private road. The town has been unable to act because its width does not meet the state law requirement for a town road.

These residents reported on a search made of abstracts at the courthouse which indicated that a Milwaukee resident has claim to a 30 foot strip along part of the required width for the road as being abandoned property. They suggested the Town Board contact her to have her deed this strip to the town for the road.

These residents indicated they will try to get the necessary remaining feet deeded so that the width can meet the 50-foot width required under the state law before the town can put the road on the town system.

Town Chairman Amos Page reported that the town's park board is seeking a joint meeting with the board for next Monday, a meeting with a state plumbing inspector to discuss a proposed plumbing ordinance and code for the town is set for next Tuesday night and the Town Board is invited to attend the county school committee hearing on the Spring Road School consolidation with Neenah at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 17.

Disaster Preparedness Meetings Set in Winnebago Townships

OSHKOSH — Simple insurance against radioactive fallout will be the topic of four town disaster preparedness meetings Wednesday and Thursday nights. The meetings begin at 8 p.m.

Clayton's meeting will be in Clayton Center School and Winchester's in the town hall, both Wednesday night. Thursday meetings will be for Town of Poygan in Poygan Community Club and Vinland in the town hall.

Advice to be offered will be on fallout protection for farm and rural non-farm families, as well as protective measures for livestock, garden and farm crops.

Clayton town leaders are Carlton Babcock, chairman, and Chester Becker, Mrs. Wilbur Bondow and Mrs. Helen Schultz. Leaders in the Town of Poygan are Francis Crowley, chairman, Mrs. Robert Carpenter, Mrs. Lowell Kratz and Clarence Genrich. Winchester town leaders are Russell Mathison, chairman, Edwin Engel, Mrs. Alfred Zellmer and Eugene Cizek.

Tax Claim OK'd By Town Board

NEENAH — A claim by the Town of Menasha against the Town of Neenah for $1,431.21 in erroneously allocated taxes was approved Monday night by the Town of Neenah Board.

Board Votes to Transport Pupils to Junior High School

NEENAH— Seventh and eighth graders of the rural districts to be attached to the Neenah school system will be transported to the new junior high school, the Neenah Board of Education decided Monday night.

The board also decided to set up five study committees with school board members of the districts being attached serving on these committees. These committees will continue through the transition period and will be organized at the Feb. 5 board meeting.

The fields to be studied to complete the consolidation program are finance, personnel, transportation, school lunch and building and grounds. The personnel committee will study policies for both teaching and non-teaching personnel.

Concern was expressed by board members about the vast amount of additional duties having to be performed by present administrative personnel, duties which have mushroomed in recent years with the growth of the school system.

They cited particularly the work of the superintendent and supervisor of buildings and grounds. It was suggested that an administrative assistant to the superintendent of school be considered and also an assistant to the supervisor of properties because of the increased work caused by the school consolidation, added transportation needs and two school building programs getting underway.

Recommend Squad Cars $2,250 Bid

MENASHA — Two bids on two new police squad cars were received by the Board of Public Works Monday afternoon, with Gibson Co. of Menasha recommended as the lower, better offer.

Gibson offered to provide two Chevrolet Biscayne four-door sedans for $4,375 gross, with $2,125 trade-in on the two present cars, for a net of $2,250.

The other bid was from Neenah-Menasha Motors, Inc., for two Ford Galaxie Mainliner sedans, $5,560 gross, $3,160 trade-in and $2,400 net.

City Clerk Harry Kind said this year's low bid is $60 over last year's. Included in this year's purchase are two seat belts, now required under a new state law.

To Your Good Health

Blood-Thinner Drugs Can Cause Black, Blue Marks

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking blood thinner pills, but I now seem to have many black and blue marks. Could this be from thinning my blood? —Anxious."

Dr. Molner

Yes, it could be. I think it's more accurate to think in terms of the blood "clotting more slowly" than "thinning." But that's a technical quibble, I admit.

A black and blue spot, or a bruise, is simply the visible evidence that some bleeding has occurred under the skin. A bump breaks some of the tiny capillaries, or almost invisibly small branches of the blood vessels.

If the tiny break closes over quickly, there is little or no bruise. If the break closes slowly, then somewhat more blood seeps into the tissues and that makes the "blue" mark.

I urge you to see your doctor promptly to have the dosage of the drug adjusted. (A "prothombin test," or "clotting test" is the technical method used at intervals to avoid this sort of "bruising" while the "blood-thinner" drugs are in use.

No Discrimination

"Dear Dr. Molner: Over the past year I have suddenly become conscious of a 'stomach.' I am 50. I have gained some weight and I certainly am not happy over the matronly look it gives me.

"Do certain foods cause fat to center on the stomach and bosom? —Mrs. E.M.S."

My matronly madam, allow me to tell you, as brutally as I know how, that fat (and calories) are stupid old chemicals that have no discrimination whatsoever.

If we eat 'em, they go where calories usually go. There's some modest difference from one person to another, but the hips, the abdomen, and the bosom are the first places where excess calories (or excess weight) prefer to settle. After that — other places.

There are no special foods you can eat that will settle in one place rather than another. And since foods are so stupid, I guess it's up to us to do the thinking for them. They have no artistic talent as to where to go — we'll just have to stop eating too much of the foods that turn into fat.

Egg Won't Hurt

"Dear Dr. Molner: My mother is 78 and says she reads that people over 70 should eat cold meat for lunch. Also she will not eat eggs. I don't think one a day will harm her.—Mrs. P. W."

Of course an egg a day won't hurt her, and she has been misinformed about the meat, too. The real reason may be that she finds lunch meats easier to chew. Perhaps cutting up her meat for her may settle this issue.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain Laennec cirrhosis. Is there a known cause? Could it be the result of ruptured esophageal varices? Can this be cancer?—R.S."

Laennec's cirrhosis is the same disorder commonly called cirrhosis of the liver or portal cirrhosis. There is a scarring and shriveling of the liver.

While chronic alcoholism is regarded as a common cause, there are others not involving drink at all—an infection or repeated irritation of the liver, poisoning of the liver, and often deficient nutrition.

Because circulation within the liver is impaired, varicose veins can develop in the lower part of the gullet or esophagus, and these are called "esophageal varices"—a result, rather than a cause. No, cirrhosis is NOT cancer, although cancer can develop in a liver that is affected by this disease. But it can also develop in livers that don't have the disease.

County Hospital Issue Flares During Meeting

OSHKOSH — The Winnebago County Hospital roof issue was back before the county board today when Oshkosh Supv. Herbert Pitz wanted to know why the records of the investigation have not been made available to the public in the county clerk's office.

Pitz said several people have asked him about the records and he was informed the district attorney is still holding them.

"I'm wondering on what grounds the district attorney's office is virtually insisting on not making this material available," Pitz asked. "Why isn't the will of the county board being carried out by its agents?"

At the November session, the county board voted against starting a lawsuit to recover damages for apparent faulty roof work at the hospital, then voted to make the records public.

Assessor Files For Re-Election

MENASHA — City Assessor Thomas Zeininger, 334 Ahnaip St., today filed nomination papers for a sixth two-year term. Zeininger's candidacy so far is unopposed. He was elected in 1952 and reelected each time since then.

Zeininger

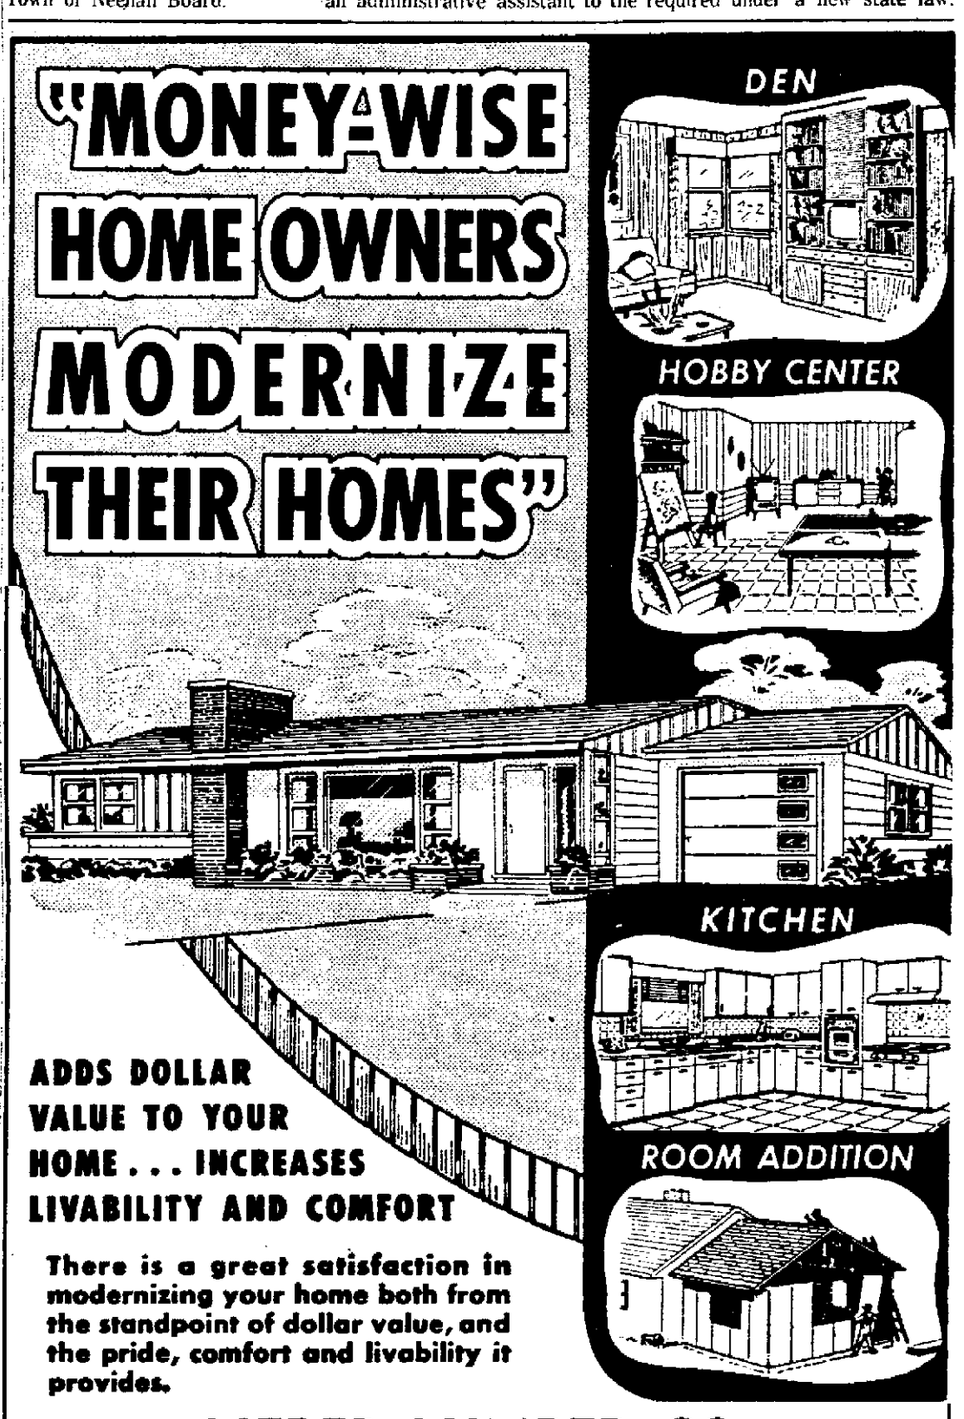

Alfred J. Becher, 118 First St., incumbent Second Ward county supervisor, secured nomination papers for his ward's aldermanic post, now held by Robert Mielke. Becher is a composing room supervisor at George Banta Co. His supervisor term expires next year.

Three Injured in County Accident

OSHKOSH — A mother and daughter were taken to Mercy Hospital at Oshkosh after their car and one driven by Peter Succa, 53, 661 Third St., Menasha, collided on State 26 in the town of Nekimi at 10:45 a.m. today.

Mrs. William L. Hughes, route 2, Oshkosh, and her daughter, Julie, 6, were taken to the hospital in the Moore ambulance. The extent of their injuries was not known. Succa was treated at Mercy Hospital for a hand laceration and then was taken to his home in a county squad car.

HEARTburn?

Today, practical people who are subject to heartburn, acid indigestion or gas are never without a roll of TUMS. Easy-to-take TUMS bring quick relief from the discomfort of Acid Upset. Long-lasting, safe relief is at hand whenever you carry TUMS.

And remember—the three-roll pack of TUMS is only 30c!
